GLENDALE UNION HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES GIVEN DIPLOMAS AT MOST IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES

Perry W. Weidner Makes Commencement Address in Which He Tells Value of Education; Flays Radicals and Says No Room for Classes

WITH nearly 1500 of their friends and admirers present to honor and respect them, the members of the graduating class of the Glendale Union high school held their commencement exercises last night in the beautiful Glendale Theatre. The service was beautiful and impressive, and one that will long be cherished in the memories of each of the youthful graduates.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the members of the class, of which there were 132, entered the auditorium from each side of the artistically illuminated stage, and were ushered by two pairs of junior girls to the rear of the house and then to the reserved part of the orchestra section, where they were seated for the remainder of the ceremony. Both the girls and the boys were uniformly dressed, the former with typical white graduation dresses, and the latter with white trousers and dark coats. Each of the boys carried a dark red rose, the class flower, in his buttonhole, while every girl wore a small bouquet of the universal flowers.

Frank Lanterman, who was a member of the class of 1919, and who had opened the entertainment of the evening with an excellent recital on the theater's mammoth pipe organ, played as the processional the "March Pontifical" by F. de la Tombelle. During the previous recital he rendered the following selections: "Elevation" by A. Guilamant, "Caprice" by Alexander Mathews, "Allegretto in D Minor" by A. Guilamant' and "Scenes from an Imaginary Ballet" by Coleridge Taylor.

Following the processional the audience was led in invocation by Rev. Julius Soper, after which the combined boys' and girls' glee clubs very appropriately and harmoniously sung Beethoven's ever-popular "Vesper Hymn."

Misses Margaret Stuckwish and Flora Kenney, both of the girls' glee club, then delighted the audience with two beautiful piano duets, "Hungarian Dance No. 7" by Brahms and "By Moonlight" by De Koven.

Perry W. Weidner, who delivered the commencement address, was then introduced by Principal Moyse as the chief speaker of the occasion. Mr. Weidner is one of the prominent business men of southern California and local people consider themselves indeed fortunate in being afforded a lecture by such a man.

"Civic Usefulness"

Mr. Weidner's subject, "Civic Usefulness," could not have been better chosen for such an occasion. The address, which was centered almost wholly on "education," was one that was appreciated by all who heard it.

Throughout the speech Mr. Weidner dwelt upon patriotism as being a prime requisite for the betterment of the community, state and nation. After quoting the preamble to the constitution of the United States he emphasized its meaning by stating that in order to live up to this preamble, education of the "masses" is an absolute necessity. That the general spirit of unrest which has manifested itself in various parts of the

Howard L. Brown In Receipt Of C. E. Badges

In anticipation and preparation for the large number of delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention here, June 25-29, Howard L. Brown, chairman of the general convention committee, is in receipt of 4,000 convention badges. Advance registrations already total over 2,400, and it is believed that twice that number will be in attendance at the convention.

Call Your Canine By Wireless; C. E. Kimlin's Story Suggests Scheme

Here's a new possibility for the wireless telephone.

Equip your dogs with a receiving set attached to its muzzle.

When you want the canine to come home, whistle in your wireless telephone, say a few kind words and "his master's voice" will do the rest.

All of this theory results from the story told by C. E. Kimlin, manager of the Glendale Sanitarium.

He states that his wife left the dog at her parents' home, Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Royce, for the afternoon. Then she sent after it, but the dog refused to leave.

After a conversation about it over the telephone, the dog was allowed to "listen in" and Mrs. Kimlin said:

"Gyp! We're home now. Come home."

Like a bat out of a box the dog sped home!

At the close of a very delightful afternoon the hostess served dainty refreshments of orange ice, wafers and coffee.

SUBWAY FOR LOCAL CARS CONSIDERED BY OFFICIALS

Saving Of Six Minutes In Running Time If Plans Come To Conclusion

Proceedings pending presently before the State Railroad commission, which is in session at Los Angeles, hold forth the hope that Glendale will be linked to the first subway to be built in metropolis.

According to the plans of Richard E. Sachse, chief engineer of the commission, it would be feasible for the Pacific Electric to tunnel from its Hill street station to First street and Glendale boulevard (Lakeshore avenue), where the Glendale line now turns into Second street.

If this plan is carried through—and there seems to be prospects of something of the sort being ordered, according to Pacific Electric representatives in interviews with The Glendale Evening News today—the Hollywood cars will be switched onto the Glendale line at Sunset and Glendale boulevards and routed directly into the tunnel.

It is stated that this eight-block subway will mean a saving of six minutes in the running time of Glendale cars to the center of Los Angeles and approximately 10 minutes on the Hollywood schedules.

This move to eliminate congestion is necessitated by the Hollywood lines which are providing inadequate service, it is said, on account of being unable to operate more cars on Hill street during the rush hours. From First and Hill to Fifth and Hill streets it is almost impossible to go faster than a snail's pace with either street car or automobile. Somewhat considerable congestion is noted on the Glendale line from Sixth and Figueroa to Sixth and Los Angeles streets.

Gains Popular Approval

Other methods of solving this big traffic problem are before the commission, but the subway seems to find the popular approval of Hollywood people, who are claiming much of the publicity because of the fact that the saving of time will be greatest on their line.

City Engineer Osborn of Los Angeles suggested the subway some months ago and it has now reached the embryotic stage. It may be that the Railroad commission will take early action which will work for the more rapid development of northern and northwestern suburbs of Los Angeles.

It is estimated that the cost of the colossal improvement, if undertaken, will be in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

SUBMIT PLANS FOR BUSINESS SECTION SEWER SYSTEM

Cost Of Improvement To Be Assessed Against Those Receiving Service

Installation of a sewer system in the business district of Glendale was again discussed by the Board of City Trustees last night with the result that, on motion of Trustee Bartlett, plans and specifications prepared by Olmsted & Gillelen were referred to the city attorney and the city engineer to pass upon and, it was indicated, will probably be put under way very soon.

F. H. Olmsted explained the maps to the trustees and also gave estimates of cost. He stated the total cost will be in the neighborhood of $35,000, making an assessment of about $5.17 a front foot to property served by the system. The cost of the improvement, provided it is ordered, will be stood by those connecting up with the service.

Petitions are now in circulation asking the trustees to order the improvement.

City Manager's Report

T. W. Watson, city manager, submitted the following communication on the subject last night:

"Pursuant to instructions of your board, we have had prepared under the supervision of Olmsted & Gillelen plans and specifications for the installation of sewer system for the six blocks in the main business center of the city extending north on Brand boulevard from Colorado street to Wilson avenue. These plans are now ready for your consideration and may be generally described as follows:

1—Sewer mains are to be placed at a depth sufficient to take care of sewage from basements.

2—All pipes are to be of standard specifications for sewer pipes and of sufficient capacity to take care of the ultimate needs of the district.

3—Sewers are to be laid as one continuous system as if no temporary disposal was planned, so that ultimately the sewage of the district may be conveyed to one point at the southwest corner of the district, that is at the intersection of Colorado and Orange streets, where the same may be taken care of later by general sewer system when such system is installed.

4—Temporary disposal is provided for in several disposal units each consisting of one septic tank or settling basin of simple design and construction and two or three cesspools connected thereto with provisions for carrying the excess effluent therefrom if any there be to sewer main, these cesspools to be constructed at least thirty feet apart and located in street or alley immediately adjacent to sewer main. These plans have been drawn on the assumption that the disposal part of this system is more or less temporary, and for that reason it has been made as simple in design as practicable, eliminating all unnecessary expense. About 75 per cent of the cost of this entire installation will be for the sewer mains that will be standard in every way and that will constitute a part of the general sewage disposal system of the city and property assessed for this expense should not be called upon for an additional assessment for like construction located in any other portion of the city.

"We present herewith several petitions that have been signed by owners of property within the district, requesting your board to take the necessary proceedings under the 1911 act for the construction of a sewer system within this district in accordance with plans being prepared by the city of Glendale.

"We have held several meetings in this connection in the business district and in the city hall, which have

Bar Peddlers From Business Section, Is Plan Of Ordinance

Peddlers who have been accustomed to station their wagons in the business section of Glendale hereafter will be barred from the fifteen-mile zone by action of the board of trustees last night.

In a communication to the board on the subject, City Manager T. W. Watson stated:

"During the last few weeks our attention has been called to a number of parties who have taken out peddler's licenses as provided for by Ordinance No. 274, and in addition to exercising their privileges as peddlers under the provisions of this ordinance have established themselves in the most congested portion of the business center either on Brand boulevard or Broadway, and from such locations conduct retail fruit business in the public highway during the most busy portion of the day.

"It does not seem that any such privilege was intended to be granted by the terms of the license ordinance and we would recommend that such ordinance be amended so as to clearly define what is meant by peddler's license and that either in such amendment or additional ordinance provision be made that no peddling or buying and selling in any manner whatsoever be permitted on public streets within the business district within the fifteen mile traffic zone unless by special permit of the board of trustees."

It was brought out in the discussion following the reading of the above statement that the peddlers have been paying licenses for that period of the quarter unexpired at the rate of $9 a quarter. In other words, according to City Clerk J. C. Sherer, street merchants are operating for 25 cents a day which makes their business most profitable.

Merchants have pointed out that the rents, investment and stock they carry cannot be kept up with itinerant business men parking their carts or cars on the principal corners and soliciting business on the streets.

It is believed that the action of the board will ameliorate the present situation which has become quite aggravated by an unusual influx of peddlers.

MUSIC CLUB TEAMS ARE ENTERTAINED AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones Gives Delightful Affair For About Fifteen Guests

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club, entertained the captains and members of the teams appointed for the membership drive at luncheon yesterday at Mrs. P. Sowl's Casa Verdugo restaurant. A large basket of deep red roses decorated the table.

An elegant Spanish luncheon was enjoyed by the fifteen guests present, which included Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, Mrs. Leroy Bosserman, Mrs. Vivian Webb, Mrs. John A. Legge, Mrs. C. H. Pendleton, Mrs. L. N. Hagood, Mrs. C. L. Marlenee, Mrs. L. G. Sherman, Mrs. H. R. Gibbs, Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mrs. C. A. Parker, Dorothy Armstrong Welcome, Mrs. Calvin Whiting and the hostess, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones.

Informal Program

After luncheon an informal musical program was given by Mrs. L. N. Hagood, Mrs. C. A. Parker, Mrs. Frank Arnold and Dorothy Armstrong Welcome. Report of the membership drive was given next.

Parker, 38; Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, 31; Mrs. Alex Mitchell, 26; Mrs. H. R. Gibbs, 18.

The committee voted to continue the drive until the first of July. The drive, thus far, brings the total membership of the Glendale Music club, not including the two auxiliaries, up to 400.

HAS HAD TEN CAPITALS

North Carolina has had at least ten capitals, including Bath, Edenton, Brunswick, Wilmington, Newbern, Hillsboro, Smithfield, Fayette and Raleigh. The reason for so many lay in the custom prior to 1791 of transferring the seat of government to the place of residence of the governor or the temporary meeting place of the assembly. In 1791 one square mile of land was purchased for the foundation of Raleigh as the permanent seat of government. At present the city covers four square miles.

LITERARY LUMBER

Mayor Moore of Philadelphia being congratulated on the success of his administration, laughed and observed:

"Good workmen are always modest about their work. A lady once said gushingly to Mark Twain:

" 'I guess, being such a grand writer as you are, you're awfully fond of books, aren't you?'

" 'Well, that depends,' drawled the humorist. 'If a book has a leather cover it has magnificent value as a razor strop. A brief, concise work, such as the French write, is very useful to put under the short leg of a wobbly table. Large, old-fashioned books with clasps can't be beat as missiles to hurl at dogs and cats. A large book, like a geography, is nearly as good as a piece of tin to nail over a broken window pane.' "

Roy Gardner Safely Put In Penitentiary

TACOMA, Wash., June 17.—Roy Gardner, mail robber, recaptured in Centralia yesterday, was safely behind the walls of the United States penitentiary at McNeil's island today.

He entered the doors of his island prison home at 8 o'clock last night under the heaviest guard ever escorted a prisoner there. His stay may last for a period of fifty years unless he seeks to break his present record for escapes, which have kept officers up and down the coast on the jump.

The nervy bandit who was twice convicted of robbing Uncle Sam's mail, and who twice escaped from guards bringing him from California, told his captors that he is "through," and that all he wants from now on is a "square deal."

But the guards at McNeil's Island said today they are going to take no chances. Gardner is to be treated the same as other prisoners, but a closer watch will be placed on his movements while he is about the prison yard.

"Gardner will have to take big chances if he gets away from this prison," said one of the guards. He's a bird that will bear watching. But we have got a high barbed wire fence and lots of watch towers and no man has yet beat a Springfield bullet if it was headed in his direction. He may get away, but the chances are he'll go in a coffin, if he tries to leave."

The location of the mail sack that Gardner took from a train in California last month still is unknown. While the robber talked freely of his movements up to the time of his capture in Centralia he declined to tell where he had hidden the sack.

The bandit never entirely lost his smile during his journey from the Centralia jail to the island prison. He grinned at the thousand curious Centralians who jammed the station platform there as the train pulled out.

On the trip he was handcuffed on either side to railway special agents. With these officers were United States Marshal J. B. Holohan of San Francisco and two other special agents.

When the officers tried to brush a camera man away at Centralia, Gardner exclaimed, "Let him take it," and the request was granted. As the train pulled out he waved his braceleted hands to one of the officers there.

Arriving in Tacoma, Gardner and his guards immediately went to Steilacom, where a launch from the penitentiary was waiting for them.

"Is that the place yonder?" Gardner inquired, as he looked across the sound toward the gray outlines of the prison. When told it was, he smiled but said nothing more. Five minutes later he was in the launch surrounded by guards and headed for the prison.

Holohan said a marked change came over Gardner when he said good-bye to his guards at the penitentiary.

"His carefree and jovial air had deserted him and he seemed at last to realize the seriousness of his position," said the marshal.

MINUTES OF CITY TRUSTEES

The proceedings of the Board of City Trustees in session at the city hall last night, as taken from the official minutes compiled by J. C. Sherer, city clerk, are as follows:

The board assembled at 8:10 p. m., all members present. Minutes of the regular meeting of June 9, 1921, were read and approved.

Brand Boulevard Association

A committee appeared, representing the Brand Boulevard Improvement association, John W. Usilton, chairman, with Christian J. Orff and E. L. Scovern, who presented a petition signed by the committee requesting that the board of trustees invoke the aid of the state railroad commission in compelling the Pacific Electric Railway company to open up crossings and bring to grade a number of street crossings on Brand boulevard.

On motion of Trustee Lapham, the city attorney was instructed to present a petition to the state railroad commission requesting that an order be given to the Pacific Electric Railway company to open up crossings and bring to grade on Brand boulevard the streets named in the communication; all voting aye.

Lights for Walnut Street

A petition was presented to the board signed by Martha Y. Salyer and other property owners interested requesting that street lights be installed upon Walnut street, between Magnolia and Los Feliz. Referred to the city manager to investigate and report.

Anderson Sidewalk Matter

The city manager's report was presented in regard to petition of D. C. Anderson and M. L. Ogden to have sidewalk removed in front of Lot 2, block T, Glendale Valley View tract, the same to be placed on a line in accordance with a survey made of said lot by H. A. Eddy and with a supplementary report submitted by City Engineer Hill.

In the communication the city manager stated that the sidewalk had been laid in 1916 and that he had endeavored to secure information from the engineer of the city at that time in regard to the work, but had been unable to do so. The city manager recommended that a mutual agreement be arrived at between the city and the petitioners whereby the latter would deed to the city that portion of their property upon which the sidewalk had been constructed, for a reasonable compensation. Mr. Anderson was present and addressed the board upon the subject.

A motion of Trustee Lapham was adopted that the sum of $110 be awarded to D. C. Anderson for damages in this case and the sum of $100 to M. L. Ogden for similar damages, provided that both of these parties convey to the city that portion of their property taken up by the sidewalk. Roll call as follows: Ayes, Bartlett, Lapham, Robinson, Stephenson. Noes, Henry.

(The chairman of the board retired temporarily, Trustee Bartlett taking the chair.

Ask for Water Service

Mr. Edwin Pierce was present and presented a petition asking that water service be installed for lots 13 to 18, inclusive, in tract 2134, facing south on Randolph street, east of Campbell street, the petitioner agreeing to furnish pipe the size required by the public service department. Referred to the city attorney.

Annexation Petition

A petition was presented to the board signed by Edwin J. Parratt and ten other residents of the district described in the petition, requesting that the board of trustees call a special election in the territory described at which there shall be submitted to the qualified electors, whether said territory shall be annexed to the city of Glendale. The petition was referred to the city clerk to check up the names upon the Great Register of the county and report to the board.

The city clerk reported he had checked the names on petition and finds that they constitute more than 25 per cent of the total number of voters registered as residing in the territory described; and that at the date of signing the said petittion they were so registered.

In connection with this petition, Mr. Godfrey Edwards addressed the board requesting that action in regard to the matter be delayed and on motion of Trustee Lapham, further action was deferred until July 7, 1921, and the petition ordered to be filed.

(Trustee Stephenson resumed the chair.

Passenger Bus Line

H. H. Davenport and C. A. Bunting made application to the board for a permit to operate two bus lines over certain streets of the city of Glendale; the route being described in the petition. The petition further stated that it is the intention of the applicants to make hourly trips from 6 a. m. to 10 o'clock p. m., and to increase the service as traffic may require; the fare to be the same as now or hereafter may be charged by the Pacific Electric company. Referred to the city attorney for an opinion as to the necessity of any permit being obtained.

Sewer System and Plans

Engineer Olmsted was present and the city manager submitted a report stating that plans were now ready for the consideration of the board for the installation of a sewer system for the main business portion of the city, extending north on Brand boulevard from Colorado street to Wilson avenue. The communication set forth the plan in detail.

In connecton with the same, petitions were presented signed by property owners interested, asking that such service be installed.

The city manager recommended the adoption of plans submitted by Olmstead and Gillelen and that the city attorney be instructed to prepare legal proceedings under Act of 1911. Engineer Olmsted explained details of the matter, stating among other estimates that the cost per frontage is estimated at $5.17 per running foot, in the district, it being contemplated in the plans that the charge for the improvement shall be made against the property directly benefitted. On motion of Trustee Robinson it was ordered that the plans and specifications presented by Olmsted and Gillelen be referred to the city attorney and the city engineer for checking up and report at the next meeting.

Sewer System in Verdugo

The city manager reported that he had been informed that Attorney J. C. Thomson of New York City has given his final approval of the legal proceedings for Municipal Improvement district, No. 3, whereby the issue of $50,000 for the construction of a sewer was authorized. He stated that proposition has been secured from Olmsted and Gillelen for preparing the plans and specifications for sewage disposal works. He submitted a copy of letter from Olmsted and Gillelen under date of May 24, 1921, containing their proposition.

Dr. H. B. Crocker whose property is included in the proposed sewer system district addressed the board in regard to the matter and on motion of Trustee Lapham, the city attorney was instructed to draft a contract in accordance with proposition of Olmsted and Gillelen relative to drawing plans for disposal works, for the sewer system in Municipal Improvement district, No. 3, to be submitted to the board for approval.

Application of Lumber Company

Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company made application for permit to construct a conductor pipe for sawdust and shavings to cross railroad street from above their lumber shed at a height sufficient to clear traffic. Application was approved by the city manager and on motion of Trustee Henry, granted.

To Purchase City Lot

A propostion was read from Gus A. Rapp and Lola G. Rapp accompanied by check for $100 of the sum of $600, cash as purchase price for lot situated on East California street, known as the old Glendale pumping lot, now owned by the city of Glendale. On motion of Trustee Bartlett it was ordered that the bid be accepted by the following roll call: Ayes, Bartlett, Henry, Lapham, Robinson, Stephenson. Noes, none.

To Pump Cesspools

An application was presented from the Acme Cesspool company for a permit to pump cesspools, agreeing to handle the work in a sanitary way, subject to the approval of the city health officer. On motion of Trustee Henry the permit was granted.

Letter of Thanks

A letter was read from the secretary of the Men's Bible class of the Glendale Presbyterian church expressing thanks for the action taken by the board in allowing the class to use the council chamber temporarily on Sunday mornings. Ordered to be filed.

Communication From Robinson

Trustee Spencer Robinson presented the following communication to the board requesting that the same be spread upon the minutes of the board. On motion of Trustee Bartlett, request of Trustee Robinson was granted and it was so ordered by the following roll call: Ayes, Bartlett, Lapham, Robinson. Noes, Henry, Stephenson.

To the Honorable Board of Trustees:

Gentlemen: In a report submitted June 9th, by City Manager T. W. Watson, relative to fire engine No. 2, and published in a Glendale newspaper, he stated that after Roy Hinchcliff had repaired the machine it was returned to Fire Chief Lankford; that the fire chief found it necessary to make minor repairs, these being taken care of at the station, and that the chief declared the engine was "in no condition to be placed in service," saying "the chain drags on the timing gear case and that the drive shaft was sprung out of line and it is very uncertain as to how long the machine will run in this condition." The fire chief also reported, the city manager announces, that "the machine, as returned to him was in no condition to be run, and requested to be advised as to what should be done in regard to it."

In this report of June 9 the city manager states that he instructed the fire chief to keep the engine at Station No. 1 until he "received further orders" and use it only in an emergency."

I wish it to appear on the minutes of this board that I am responsible for having the machine repaired and I desire to say that it is in repair and can be run all day and all night, if necessary, without breaking down. Roy Hinchcliff stands back of the repairs and guarantees them. The cost of fixing the machine was $250. But in taking down the engine Mr. Hinchcliff found a cylinder head burnt out. I told him to fix it. I so reported to the city manager. That minor repair and several other little things made the cost $8.50 more, bringing the total bill of repairs up to $258.50. Mr. Hinchcliff tried in every way to get a fan belt that would keep the fan going, but after consulting Fire Chief Lankford and City Manager Watson, it was decided to put on a chain drive. I desire to state that the engine does not heat, and in six round trips to La Canada it worked perfectly and will repeat the test today or tomorrow. So, why "junk" the machine?

In pumping water a few days ago the pump lost a valve and the crank shaft was sprung or something went wrong. Why not fix the pump? Why "junk" it? Big corporations keep their equipment in repair, why cannot the city of Glendale do the same with its fire engine?

It is true the chain did drag on the timing gear. Mr. Hinchcliff said that he could fix it in fifteen minutes. The fire department thought it could, and did. It will cost about $300 or $400 to overhaul the pump. If this is done we will have a fire fighting machine at a cost of about $600 or $700, and the new one costs the people $12,500.

This machine, in my opinion, cannot only be placed in good working order at a nominal cost, for our present needs, but, with the aid of our fire department and city manager, this machine can be kept in good working order, and later when the city needs, this machine can be used at a sub-station in the residential section, which is my opinion, this city will need before many years. In other words the employees of the city should make every effort to keep our equipment up, rather than continually be asking the people to vote bonds.

Therefore, I am in favor of making the additional repairs and I ask that these remarks be spread on the minutes in full. Sincerely,
(Signed) SPENCER ROBINSON.

Applications For Permit

Applications to do street work by private contract were made by C. E. Shaw and by Jones & Williams, both of which being approved by the street superintendent, were granted.

For Gasoline Storage

Applications were presented from F. A. Evarts and from George Peters, Jr., for permits to install and maintain gasoline tanks; both of which being approved by the city manager, were granted.

Widening Of Brand Boulevard

The city manager presented a communication in regard to proposition of H. E. White to dedicate for street purposes sufficient ground to widen the east roadway of Brand boulevard at San Fernando road; and requests that he be given authority to negotiate with the Pacific Electric Railway company and Glendale school board for acquiring the ground necessary to be taken from the school grounds and the Pacific Electric right of way for the proposed improvement. In this connection, on motion of Trustee Bartlett, a resolution was adopted as Resolution No. 1207 in regard to proposed improvement of the northeast corner of San Fernando road and Brand boulevard.

Street Light Improvements

The city manager presented a report in regard to street lighting, recommending that the next year's budget provide for the installation of about 180 additional lights, about 40 of which are to be installed on San Fernando road, 90 on Glendale avenue, Verdugo road and Verdugo canyon district and the additional 50 to be distributed over the city generally. Communication ordered to be filed.

Permits To Remove Trees

On recommendation of the city manager permits were granted to remove trees as follows: Standard Oil company, seven trees on the east side of San Fernando road, north of its intersection with Colorado street. Frank Johnson of 375 Salem street, to remove two trees in the rear of 1260 Walnut street.

Change In License Ordinance

In a communication to the board the city manager called attention to the fact that a number of parties have taken out peddler's license as provided for by Ordinance No. 274 and have established themselves in the most congested portion of the business district, where they conduct a retail fruit business. He recommends that the ordinance be amended so as to clearly define as to what is meant by "peddler's license" and that in such amendment or by an additional ordinance no peddling or buying or selling in any manner whatsoever be permitted in public streets within the business district, within the 15 mile traffic zone, unless by special permit of the board of trustees. On motion, communication was referred to the city attorney to draft an ordinance as suggested.

Signal To Be Installed

The city manager reported that no action had been taken to check the traffic at the crossing of Brand boulevard and Los Feliz road on account of the fact that he had been informed by the P. E. authorities that the order had been given for an automatic signal to be established at this crossing. The city manager asked that another week be given to report upon Gardena avenue crossing.

Funds Transferred

On recommendation of the city manager it was ordered that the sum of $329.44 be transferred from the Orange street opening and widening fund to the general service fund by roll call vote, all voting aye.

Demands

The demands were presented and referred to the finance committee. The finance committee reported the following demands approved and on motion of Trustee Robinson warrants were ordered to be issued in payment of the same, by roll call vote, all voting aye.

Calling Bond Election

On motion of Trustee Bartlett an ordinance previously presented to the board was adopted as Ordinance No. 449, calling a special election to be held on the 28th day of June, 1921, submitting to the electors, two bond propositions, one for $26,000 for municipal buildings, and one for $22,000 for acquiring land for park purposes and constructing a public swimming pool, by roll call vote, all voting aye.

Southern Pacific Crossing

Trustee Lapham called the attention of the board to the necessity for immediate action in regard to doing something at crossing of Southern Pacific railway and Brand boulevard to protect the traveling public.

Trustee Stephenson called the attention of the board to certain conditions in connection with the proposed opening and widening of Los Feliz road and on his suggestion further action in regard to the matter was temporarily deferred to give the trustees an opportunity to better acquaint themselves with the situation.

Adjourned.

KINDNESS

The other evening a young lawyer took his bulldog in his machine when he took his best girl out driving. And as he drove up to her house out jumped his dog and clinched with the dog of the man who lived next door to her home. Then the fight began and it lasted long and was hard. But finally the two dogs were parted and the girl stood fearfully awaiting the "balling out" she was sure her crusty neighbor would give her best beau. But he did nothing of the sort. He kicked his own dog back into his house and talked affably with the lawyer.

The lawyer, too, was surprised. He voiced his wonder. "Well, you certainly are a good scout," he said. Most men would have been mad over my dog fighting yours."

"No, sir, I'm a good neighbor," the old man said, and the girl began to feel more kindly toward him than she had ever felt before. But the next minute her kind feeling departed. For he finished: "I wouldn't do a mean trick to any of my neighbors like discouraging their daughter's beaus. I've got two old maid daughters myself just a few years older than the two who live here."

WESLEY KUHNLE, F A. G. O., Director

H. S. BISSELL TELLS OF TRAVELING BY FARM BUREAU

Number Of Demonstrations Prove Of Much Interest; Visits Land Colony

H. S. Bissell of La Crescenta was one of the representatives of Los Angeles county at the annual Farm Bureau Traveling conference, members of which left Berkeley early Monday morning in forty-three automobiles, traveling through Alameda, San Joaquin, Stanislus, Merced, Madera, Fresno, Kings, Tulare and Kern counties, covering about 500 miles.

The farm bureau, which is the agency through which the extension service of United States department of agriculture and Agricultural college of the state university works for introduction of better agricultural practices, is a federation of farmers associated together for the purpose of better agricultural, economic and social conditions on American farms.

The traveling conference is an annual trip through a selected agricultural portion of the state conducted by the Agricultural Extension Service and led by B. H. Cocheron, director of agricultural extension. Those attending the conference are delegates of the various counties having a farm bureau, farm advisers, agricultural experts and specialists.

Demonstrations Witnessed

Among the demonstrations witnessed on this tour, as described by Mr. Bissell, are the following:

Increased grape crop by use of irrigation and cover crops.

Increased alfalfa crop by use of sulphur and lime.

Advantages of pruning trees, both in increased yield, superior quality, and decreased cost in fumigating.

Planting of cover crop as preventative of June drop of the navel orange.

Superiority of long system of pruning over the heading back system.

Many other practical demonstrations were seen of applied knowledge which had been gained through the extension service.

Hogs Uniform Size

Mr. Bissell also relates witnessing the sale of cars of hogs at McFarland, near Bakersfield, conducted by the California Farm Bureau Marketing association. He states that the association grades the hogs to uniform size, in this way enabling buyers to purchase carloads of whatever size he desires.

"Because of this the buyers are willing to pay more for these hogs than they would bring in any other stockyard in the United States," he says.

Another very interesting visit is also described by Mr. Bissell, as follows:

"At Delhi we saw the state land settlement colony, where a man of moderate means can secure a farm on which he can raise and support a family. He can buy these farms from the state on a twenty year payment plan and can borrow back from the state for the building of a house and planting out the land over half the money which he has already invested in that land. An adequate supply of water is developed for the colony and the water is piped to each ranch. These colonies have become so popular that there is a long waiting list and sometimes every piece of land is spoken for by the time the subdivision is completed. Through this California land settlement board thousands of farmers are living on prosperous farms and are an asset to the state. This land being bought in large pieces, can be sold to farmers at a price which covers all expenses of the subdivision."

Amateur Vaudeville At Glendale Tonight

Five acts of amateur vaudeville and a feature film of unusual merit will provide the only entertainment in Glendale tonight at the Glendale Theatre. It is a big program and the house should be packed.

Clothes that infer, rather than prove feminine loveliness, are to be seen in "Desperate Youth," the Universal photodrama of the old south, with Gladys Walton in the stellar role.

The period of the story is shortly after the civil war and the costumes are in keeping with the styles of that day. Miss Walton is particularly fetching in her poke bonnet, a basque that emphasizes the grace of her form and a ruffled hoop-skirt that leaves geometrical details to the imagination. Over her shoulders she wears a silk shawl, a family heirloom which came to her from her grandmother, a stately old lady from Alabama, which state, by the way, is the locale of the story.

Harold Miller, the dashingly handsome young leading man, is typical of the southern gentleman of the old school. He wears the prescribed stove-pipe hat, the silk-faced frock coat, the winged collar and the elaborate waistcoat of the period. Altogether he is one of the finest looking young southern gentlemen who ever cocked a dueling pistol.

It is easy to pick out the innocent and unspoiled girls. They seldom get the cheek spots of rogue on a horizontal line.

New Head Of Legion To Continue Program

INDIANAPOLIS—John G. Emery, elected national commander of the American Legion, in a statement advocates a continuance by the legion of its program of instilling in the hearts of former service men and women a sense of "individual obligation to community, state and nation."

With the sense of responsibility before them, he said, the nightmare of destructive radicalism and disintegrating factional strife, which has assailed so many nations since the war, has been spared our country.

He said the legion would continue its fight in behalf of disabled veterans until every man is generously provided for.

The new commander paid a tribute to the late Colonel Galbraith, his predecessor, in the statement, which said:

"If I were asked to state in a few words what I believe to be the greatest service the American Legion has rendered our country, I would say that it has been the carrying out by the legion of the mandate of its constitution, which has instilled in the hearts of former service men and women a sense of individual obligation to community, state and nation.

"With the national relaxation from our war efforts there came a real private and personal affairs and a corresponding diminution of interest in public affairs by the average citizen. The first aim of the American Legion was to meet this danger by rekindling and continuing the citizen's interest in his community, his state and his country.

"It is the determination of the American Legion to go forward with its fight, emphasizing a more vivid conception by each citizen of his personal obligation of service to his country.

With the legislation basically necessary for the relief of the physically disabled passed by congress the American Legion will address its full energies to the task of helping those financially disabled by reason of the military or naval service. The compensation bill before congress represents the payment of a just and acknowledged obligation the country owes to those who have served it.

"It is vital to our security that the government show that, in return for individual loyalty bravely given, it stands willing to accord individual justice to those who have served it."

Proposes Air Flight Across Pacific Ocean

NEW YORK—An airplane flight that will startle the world is being planned by Captain Claude R. Collins, "ace" of the New York police aerial reserves.

Captain Collins proposes to cross the Pacific in a specially designed machine in one hop, at an average speed of 100 miles per hour, a feat that will make Sir John Alcock's trans-Atlantic flight seem tame by comparison.

Instead of the usual engine and propeller, Captain Collins' new machine will be propelled by the exhaust of a highly explosive substance, discharged from the tail through a nozzle. Turncocks and other devices will enable the speed of the machine to be controlled exactly like an airplane of the usual type.

Captain Collins gives credit for his inspiration to Professor James Goddard, who, while at Clark university, designed a rocket for communication with other planets. He is now working in collaboration with Professor Goddard, who is perfecting his rocket in the laboratories of the Smithsonian institution at Washington. Another associate is Dr. W. W. Christmas, former assistant to the late Professor Langley, inventor of the first airplane.

"My idea is to get the plans up 35,000 feet or so, and shoot like thunder for Japan," said Captain Collins today in discussing his plans with an International News Service correspondent. "Up that high there would be no atmospheric resistance to interfere with us and the exhaust propulsion would be 100 per cent efficient. I figure we ought to make 400 miles an hour."

The Pacific ocean between California and Japan is about 6000 miles wide.

Swearing At Cows Is No Crime, Court Holds

LINCOLN, Neb.—It is no violation of the law to swear at cows. This may be the only case where the use of a free and absolutely unlimited and uncensored vocabulary may be permissible, but the state railway commission today decided that the cows are not to be protected.

Jack Abbott, manager of the Burlington stockyards at Aurora, swore at the kine entrusted to his charge and charged too much for the victuals that they ate, according to a complaint entered by Hillis & Bird, cattle dealers of Aurora. The commission refused to censor Abbott.

A social reformer says it is hard to understand the plural wife. Equally hard, however, to understand the singular wife.

Soviet Did Not Last Very Long In Brussels

By R. H. SHEFFIELD
United Press Staff Correspondent

BRUSSELS — Without previous warning, the soviet occupation of factories idea struck Belgium.

Following the example of Italian workers, who took over plants throughout Italy, the Belgian workmen immediately hoisted the red flag over the occupied plant. The workers, who are employes of the Auto-Metallurgique factory at Marchienne, in south Belgium, stoutly denied communist or bolshevist sentiments.

Trouble started when an old soldier who did not belong to any trade union was employed. Soon the irritated workmen applied to the manager for discharge of the war veteran. The director refused to fire the man who was able to do all that was required of him.

After holding a "chapel," the workmen proceeded to turn out of the factory the draughtsmen, managers, clerks and timekeepers and then carried on their work in the ordinary way.

Next morning the red flag was floating over the works. Police squads turned out fearing trouble, but nothing happened. Thereupon followed a series of negotiations between men and managers. Government authorities at Brussells were notified and took precautions. Eventually the premier held conference with delegations from the management and from the workers and persuaded them to accept a compromise settlement that was agreeable to both parties concerned.

Aged Scientist Will Be Accorded Reception

A public reception is to be given in honor of Professor Albert Van der Naillen, author and scientist, who is in Southern California on a visit to Glendale and Eagle Rock friends. The reception will take place Saturday afternoon, June 18, from 2 to 5 at 906 Rock Glen avenue, end of Ellis street.

Dr. Van der Naillen is the president of the California Society for Psychical Research and is the dean of all the Belgians in America. He is 94 years old and was decorated personally with the Order of Leopold at the visit of King Albert to the United States. Among the guests to be present Saturday and at a Sunday afternoon musical program with addresses will be Dr. Peebles, who is 99 years old, and other globe-trotting friends of the Belgian educator, who are over 90 years old.

Addresses will be given by Dr. Fareed of the Persian Gardens, Dr. Riley of Glendale and Dr. Keeler of Tujunga.

Dr. Van der Naillen will leave on Monday for Oakland, Calif.

Legislative Expenses Compiled By Official

SACRAMENTO—Are they worth it? The state legislature cost the state $326,478.59 from January 1 to June 3, according to State Controller John S. Chambers.

The total cost of the senate was $94,527.40, while it cost the assembly $141,749 to argue and swap votes on bills for their respective districts—a large part of the bills being vetoed by Governor Stephens as "impossible."

The cost of legislative mailing was $1,497, while the cost of legislative printing was $88,705.19.

Maybe it's lucky the legislature meets only once every two years.

An organization of Belgian scientists has renewed an offer of a prize worth about $4000 for the best original work on the scientific advancement and technical application of electricity.

Chickens Get Excited When They Find Mash

LA VILLA, Wash.—Neighbors began to gather the other morning to take a look at Jimmie Aldrich's chickens. Gaiety seemed to be the principal mood of Aldrich's barnyard fowls. The roosters were crowing uncertainly and toting their spurs at a belligerent angle, and the hens were cackling in a particularly seductive manner.

An investigation disclosed the fact that three deputy sheriffs had just seized 200 gallons of mash and a still in Aldrich's house. They poured the 200 gallons of mash on an incline which led to the chickenyard. Aldrich was not at home at the time.

The chickens made the most of their opportunity.

'DEAR KATIE' LEARNS NEWS OF POSTOFFICE PLANS, DEPOT TOO

Place to Buy Stamps and Mail Letters Has Open Window and All That, but Scenery Could Be Improved; More Frequent Wait by Trains Is Also Requirement, Writes E. C. Hale

Glendale, June 17, 1921.

Dear Katie: Somebody made a remark once as how reporters hate to tell the truth—sometimes. So just for the example I'm goin' to elucidate to you some true facts about Glendale which heretofore I been skared to mention.

So to begin with I have throwed my dictionary in to the ash can and I'll talk like I please.

Here I have been praisin' Glendale to you, pro and con, for a long time and now the time has come when I must give you a sad surprise. So Katie, put on your shock absorbers and get ready for the worst.

Well this A. M. I got up feelin' as spry as a two-year-old kitten and I rambled gaily forth in quest of interviews, with nothin' on my mind, but my new straw hat.

First, I went to buy some stamps.

Now Katie, of all sad words of tongue or pen, these is the saddest: "Glendale ain't got no post office." All we got is a place where we can buy stamps and mail letters, but it ain't no million dollar edifice. It's just a hole in the wall which might do in a pinch as a post office in the wilds of Hollywood, but for the Jewel City, Katie—well it would make a nice meat market.

In Shadows Of Capital

Of course the clerks and male carriers are all as harmless and accomadatin' as strivin' reporters, and they ain't done nothin', but I'm a thinkin' there is somebody in the shadows of the Washington monument that's got to sign on the dotted line pretty soon.

Well, there is usually only one window open at the post office (?) Katie, partly for fresh air, but likewise where stamps is sold at reasonable prices. But the man which sells stamps has to likewise write money orders and register love letters and give civil answers to foolish questions.

A favorite pastime for the customers is called "standing in line," and so when I went in, there was 27 people ahead of me so I nad to go to the foot of the class. Well, everybody was in a hurry and the women was mopin' their brows and they (the men) was cussin' and tellin' their troubles to the men in back of 'em. Just then a pretty lady come in and dropped a package and I went over and picked it up for her and so I lost my place and I had to go to the end of the line again.

After while I begun to lose my temper and I felt like tellin' that stamp seller to go to the end of the line—or even further than that. Anyway at last I give it up and I went down to the corner druggist for my stamps.

Looks Down-Hearted

Then I went over to call on Mr. Rhoades at the Chamber of Commerce. Well, he was there and I went in and I says to him kinda jolly, what's the news today, but, Katie, he looked as blue as my $3.00 neck tie. He just sit there so down hearted that my gay spirits just dropped like the price of Fords just outa simpathy.

I asked him did he have a toothache or somethin' and he tried to smile at me a little, but he just couldn't. Then he says, do I know as how Glendale ain't got no R. R. depot on the So. Pac. Well, I says, what's the matter, did it burn down or did some of them Loose Angeles crooks steal it?

No, he says, the truth is we never had any.

Katie, that give me Something To Think About. So I begun to feel blue about it myself and in five minutes I was feelin' as bad as that guy, Les. Miserables.

Then Mr. Rhoades says to me, what's a town without a depot? Well I says, it's like a door without a knob, cause nobody can come in or get out.

His answer was nothin'.

Then he showed me a So. Pac. R. R. map and we looked from Oregon to Tia Juana and we couldn't find no fly speck on that map that looked like Glendale atall.

It was harder to find than a collar button under the bureau. It wasn't there. There was Los Angeles and Burbank sure enough, but nothin' between 'em except a lot of vacant real estate. On this map I says, we ain't even got a sun burned operator at a flag station.

Stop Quick And Short

No, he says and there's only two trains a day stop at South Glendale for about ten clangs of the engine bell just to block traffic and blow the whistle. And he says as how if we had a depot, ALL the trains would stop and all the tourists would get off here instead of goin' to Los Angeles to git held up.

Well, I says, in that state of the case of things, why ain't we got a depot?

But Katie, Mr. Rhoades just sit down and begun to look as mysterious as Mrs. Temple's Telegram for about a minute and a half. Then he says, It's just because we ain't got no post office.

Katie, I dropped my hat with a dull thud. The secret was out at last. I was so amazed for a minute I didn't know whether I was havin' a interview or playin' post office.

Well just to cheer him up a bit I says, seein' as how we can't have no depot cause we ain't got a post office and we can't have a hotel cause we ain't got a sewer why can't we have a swimmin' pool?

Oh that ain't so bad, he says, all we need for a swimmin' pool is a lot of water and some good society behind it.

That's all Hades needs, I says, as I put on my hat.

Well then I come home Katie, so I must close and put this letter in the mail box and just trust to luck that you'll ever get it.

Yours—by Mail,
E. C. HALE.

Zoellner Quartet To Appear With Chorus

Among the present day chamber music organizations the Zoellner quartet, in addition to its rare artistic merit, is unique in two notable respects—it is a family quartet, being composed of a father and his three children—a daughter and two sons—and the post of first violin which is filled by the charming daughter, Mlle. Antoinette, who sustained the onerous duties of this position with a splendid breadth of tone, power of technic and rare interpretative insight that would make most men players green with envy. It is natural, therefore, that audiences center much friendly interest upon the work of this attractive young woman whose artistry has won such unstinted encomiums from press and musical critics.

The Zoellner's appear here in conjunction with the Orpheus club under the auspices of the Christian Endeavorers at their auditorium, Harvard and Orange street, Friday night, June 24. Tickets are selling rapidly, but there are 4000 seats, so there will be plenty of room.

Peeping Tom Hasn't Any Reason For Act

VANCOUVER, B. C.—In the olden days, maybe there was some possible excuse, but—

George H. Bland was landed in police court on a charge of emulating "Peeping Tom of Coventry." He was found at the window of a house by Detectives Imlah and Alcox.

Bland's counsel, J. A. Russell, explained that his client had "peeping dementis."

"Not much justification for that complaint in view of the present day fashions," said Magistrate Shaw, who finally released Bland after the latter had promised not to "Stop, Look and Listen" again.

State Oil Production Shows Good Increase

SAN FRANCISCO—California's net oil production during the last calendar year increased 3,208,807 barrels over that for 1919, according to figures compiled for taxation purposes by the state mining bureau here. The figures show that 103,184,734 barrels of oil and more than 37,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas were produced in 1920 from an area of 94,567 proved acres.

Assessments against oil companies this year total $150,000 or $22,661 over last year's assessments.

The mining bureau's report shows that Kern, Orange and Ventura counties were the principal contributors to the increased production and that these counties added 2775 acres to the proved oil lands of the state. The bulk of the state's output, the report said, was produced in the six counties that have held high production honors for the past twenty years, namely, Fresno, Kern, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles and Orange.

Last year there was a marked increase in wildcat oil operations, according to R. E. Collins, state oil and gas inspector. He said wildcat operators started 160 wells in the state and the acreage represented totals 100,000.

Since the passing of the federal land leasing bill last February about 200,000 acres of government land have been filed upon by upward of 200 persons or companies under prospecting permits, according to Mr. Collins.

Man Asks Permission To Pay Out Alimony

CHICAGO, Ill.—Here's the eighth wonder of the world—the man who volunteers to pay his former wife alimony.

Charles L. Norman, an actor, was granted a decree from Agnus Loftus Norman when he told the judge she left him "because Chicago was too crude for her nerves."

The court indicated that was good grounds for a decree.

"Wait a minute, your honor," interrupted Norman, "I would like to pay her alimony."

"What?" gasped the judge.

"Yes," continued Norman, "you see she really is a dear, sweet, little girl, and I think a lot of her even if we didn't make a go of it."

"Well, you are a most remarkable man," replied the judge, "but if you are as honest about it as that, a court order will not be necessary. Go right ahead and send her the money."

"Well, I will," Norman promised.

La Crescenta Notes

"The Little Princess," given by the members of the seventh and eighth grades at the school auditorium on Friday evening, was a tremendous success, financially, socially and dramatically. The play was given under supervision of Miss Jessie Harper and considering that none of the participants were over 15 years of age it was a remarkable performance. The members of the cast were: Sara Crew (the little princess), Ramona Bronson; Miss Minchin (proprietess of a young ladies' seminary), Virginia Keifer; Miss Amelia (teacher), Janet Culberson; Mrs. Carmichael, Janet Culberson; Becky (the scullery maid), Melba Bronson; maid and Miss Minchins, Dorothy Keifer; Ram Dass, Robert Potts; Mr. Carisford, Waltz Young; Mr. Carmichael, Rob Hendrix; Barron (an attorney), James Telfer; servants, Fred Goldburg and Lawrence Patten; a guest, Noel Hartman. Children of the school—Lottie, Grace Clifford Pease, Ermengarde, Margaret Tucker; Lavinia, Henrietta Biescar; Jessie, Charlotte Foy; Blanche, Mary Ann Howard; Lily, Sara Goldburg. Children of Mrs. Carmichael—Mazie, Mildred Biescar; Donald, Arthur Leighton; Nora, Grace Clifford Pease; Janet, Zella K. Dunlap.

Miss Edith Ray entertained her pupils and their mothers Friday afternoon. An interesting feature of the afternoon was a program given by the children. A large audience gathered in the school auditorium Wednesday evening to witness the graduating exercises of the 1921 class. The stage and auditorium was beautifully decorated in blue and yellow, the class colors. Rev. C. L. Davenport opened the exercises with a prayer, which was followed by a song, "The Dance of the Fairies," by the seventh and eighth grades. The salutory was given by James Telfer; class will, Janet Culberson; class prophecy, Ramona Bronson; duet, Virginia and Dorothy Keifer; essay, Margaret Tucker. The presentation of diplomas, certificates of scholarships, was made by Mrs. Ellen B. Pease. Mrs. Pease also gave an interesting resume of the growth of the school and the year's work. Superintendent R. D. White, of Glendale, gave the address, which was followed by all singing "America." The class, ten in number, include Janet Culberson, Margaret Tucker, Virginia Keifer, Waltz Young, Ramona Bronson, Noel Hartman, James Telfer, Robert Hendrix, Vernon Rose and Fred Goldburg.

The La Crescenta Improvement association will give a dance at the school auditorium Saturday evening, June 25. Fletcher's orchestra of Pasadena will furnish the music. The La Crescenta Woman's club will have charge of the refreshments.

The members of the Tuesday Bridge club were charmingly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Culberson this week. Other guests were Mrs. Richard Dewey of La Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell, Mrs. E. Jonquist, Miss D. Bastable of Los Angeles and Frank S. Anderson of Chicago. The highest score of the club members was made by Donald Dewey and Mrs. E. N. Nettleton; Miss D. Bastable and Frank S. Anderson scoring highest of the guests.

The trustees of the La Crescenta schools issued certificates of scholarship to all pupils having a yearly average of 90 per cent or more. Among those who received certificates are: Howard Snodgrass, Mary Schino, Fred Czerniski, Helen Riegers, Jean Angier, Wilbur Newton, Marian Biescar, Bonnie Sleeve, John Lener, Mark Peck, Wendell Seeberg, Virginia Enokson, Elizabeth Burt, Dick Carpenter, Wodson Hendrix, Florence Schene, Neil Darby, Melba Bronson, Archie Potter, Grace Clifford Pease, Margery Wildnack, Eileen Karr, Betty Holland, Mildred Beiscar, Dorothy Forster, Florence Lener, Bessie Smith, Katherine Reinhard, Constance Angier, Robert Telfer, Helen Mead, Dorothy Potter, Edward Peck, Sara Goldburg, Charlotte Foy, Mary Ann Howard, Zella Dunlop, Lawrence Potter, Henrietta Beiscar, Leland Mead, Janet Culberson, James Telfer, Virginia Keifer, Ramona Bronson, Waltz Young, Fred Goldburg, Margaret Tucker. Among those who received a book for being neither absent nor tardy were Melba Bronson, Bessie Smith, Herbert Coke, Ramona Bronson, Waltz Young, Margaret Tucker, Leland Mead, Harry Bulson, Berthel Coke, Violet Gibbs, Keith Woolley, Lettie Smith, Arthur Leighten and Marion Biescar.

Children's day will be celebrated at the Presbyterian church Sunday. The program is in charge of Mesdames E. Stein, E. Burt and N. Angier.

The trustees of the La Crescenta school have secured Mrs. A. Austin of Pasadena for principal of the school next year. Mrs. Rose Snyder Fisher will be one of the instructors and Miss Edith May, who is so popular both with children and parents, will return for another year.

The annual school picnic will be held at Brookside park today—from all indications there will be a large attendance.

EVEN SHANGHAI NOW BEING REFORMED BY OFFICIALS

Dance Halls And Gambling Dens Must Go, Is Order Given By Governor

BY CHARLES EDWARD HOGUE
United Press Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI—"From here to Shanghai," ran the merry ditty popular in the United States not many years ago, when this gateway to the far east was better known as "Paris of the Orient" and when all sorts of naughty things were intimated in connection with the night life here.

"From Shanghai Somewhere Else" is the dirge being groaned today by the promoters of that same notorious "Night Life."

For be it known that the glooms have at last downed the joys. The fair Russian maidens who gamboled blithely to the tune of their only English accompaniment: "Buy a bottle of veno"—at $8 a pint—are sobbing in solitude, their habitat "The Trenches," once ablaze with gleaming lights, presents a sombre and forbidding aspect and "The wheel," one time the Orient's Monte Carlo, is surrounded by Chinese soldiers who look suspiciously upon passersby to ascertain whether they may have been obsessed of the sporting instinct.

No More Dance Halls

General Ho Feng-lin, defense commissioner of this province of Kiangsu has issued an ultimatum. There shall be no more dance halls nor gambling houses in the Chinese territory of the province. These places had heretofore thriven almost in the heart of the international settlement, from which they are barred, but were, because of the peculiarities of the boundary lines, on Chinese soil.

Striking among the results of the governor's ukase is the case of "The Wheel." For many years it had world-wide notoriety as a palatial gambling house. A year ago it was closed and seized by the Chinese authorities, who said it would be converted into a hospital. Then came the announcement that it had been sold to a foreign syndicate which was to remodel it and reopen it as a first-class cabaret. Half a million dollars was spent on the place.

Governor Ho heard rumors that gambling was to be resumed. He took prompt steps. When the reopening date arrived more than 1000 persons arrived at the remodeled resort. They found a cordon of soldiers drawn up around the place.

Court Ends Romance Of Boy Wed Eleven Times

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—The wartime romance of Harold Hammond, a twenty-one-year-old naval apprentice, who, it is alleged, married at least eleven young girls, came to an end recently when Justice Keough filed orders granting an annulment and a divorce, respectively, to two of his wives.

According to the evidence, young Hammond is now serving time in the Porthmouth naval prison for bigamy.

One of the actions was brought by Elizabeth Marie Hammond, who sued Hammond for divorce. She was married to the young sailor on October 15, 1917. They have no children. She named Loretta F. Hammond of Hollands, L. I., who married Hammond on May 16, 1919, at Hoboken, N. J. Loretta Hammond sued Hammond for an annulment, naming Elizabeth Hammond, and the two wives testified against each other in their respective lawsuits.

According to information, young Hammond comes from a good family. The young bigamist stated that he married so many young women simply because he "was having a lot of fun."

Does Not Glitter But Is Worth About $6000

LONDON—All that glitters is not gold, but lack of glitter is not a certain test for worthlessness, it was found by gold diggers along a river in Papua, British New Guinea, recently. While prospecting the men encountered a bluish-gray, flakish substance, which they cast aside as worthless. Two weks ago two and one-half pounds of this substance was bought in the city by an American firm for approximately $6,000 or eight times the value of the amount of gold. It was osmiridium, a member of the platinum group of metals, one of the hardest metals known and used for the tipping of fountain pens and for delicate bearings of fine machinery.

Then there are the theatre-goers who are shocked when they go to a theatre and are not shocked.

Miss Harriet Barstowe of Montrose entertained with a charmingly appointed luncheon last Tuesday. Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Rose Shields and Milo Schields of Pasadena.

Among the graduates of the Glendale High school tonight are Alberta Bertrand, Flora Kenney and Dean Culberson.

Dr. C. Baker Discusses His Rules Of Health

CHICAGO—"Folks die from lack of work. They get rusty. They speak gloatingly of how I've got a swell job now; a snap. I only work four hours a day. That's why the world is at sixes and sevens today and that's why they peter out at forty, forty-five and fifty. Be on the job every minute—and then you'll be happy, and happiness is a mysterious tonic that means first place in the century marathon race."

That's what Dr. Charles E. Baker, health adviser to Mr. Taft in the White House, and now to many wealthy men, told the Rotary club members today at their monthly luncheon. Dr. Baker described his system of "How to live 100 years."

"Adopt and maintain a simple childlike attitude of confidence and trust in God," he said. "Get the kindness habit. Accept cheerfully the place in life that is yours.

"Drink eight or ten glasses of water a day—between meals; get into the habit of daily exercise. If you have plenty of blood a cold bath should follow your exercise; otherwise only a cool bath is advisable. The best time to exercise is right after getting up in the morning, but any time is all right if not right after a meal."

You can deceive a young child about everything except his stomach.

Three Men In Boat Plan For World Trip

NEW YORK—A modern version of "Three Men in a Boat" will be presented by Captain Mimer Tonning and two companions, who will leave this month for a voyage around the world.

The trip will be made in an open lifeboat, equipped with a sail. The only shelter will be a canvas cover for the bunks. The boat will carry 14 weeks' provisions.

The route will be New York, England, Gibraltar, Suez Canal, Sumatra, Philippine Islands, Hawaii, California, Panama Canal, and back to New York. They believe the voyage will require 16 to 18 months.

Tonning's companions are Otther Pettersen and Helge Westerling. All are members of the Norwegian Masters' and Mates' association.

THEN THEY WENT AT IT

The athletic-looking man approached the counter at the fur department.

"I want a set of furs," he said, "a present for a lady."

"Any special kind, sir?" inquired Jenkins, the clerk.

"If it's not too expensive, the dark brown set in the window."

"Oh," interrupted Jenkins, "you mean skunk!"

Jenkins is still in a hospital ward.

Major Johnson Awarded Twenty-fifth Decoration

MANILA—Maj. Samuel I. Johnson, who commanded the allied garrison and the military police at Vladivostok for eighteen months during the war and up to the time when the American forces evacuated Siberia, has just been awarded his twenty-fifth decoration by various nations of the earth, for meritorious service and heroism under fire.

His latest decoration was given by the Chinese government and is known as the Fourth Order of the Wen Hu or Striped Tiger. The award was made "in token of the high appreciation of service on behalf of Chinese citizens," while Major Johnson was in charge of the allied provost guard at Vladivostok. After the American forces evacuated Siberia, Major Johnson resigned from the army and became general manager of one of the largest lumbering companies in the Philippine islands, and now is a resident of the island of Negros. The award is held at Fort Santiago, headquarters of the Philippine department of the army and will be presented to Major Johnson on his next visit to Manila.

Besides the decorations bestowed by the principal nations, he has won many medals in swimming contests and on the rifle range.

Many a man can "deliver the goods" who can't make them.

GAMBLING FEVER AT CAPITAL CAUSES HEAVY LOSSES

Some Win Money But Others Lose Both Savings And Place Of Employment

WASHINGTON — Expectant eyes turned toward a big blackboard, a throng filled Pennsylvania avenue, overflowing across the street car tracks, impeding automobile traffic, refusing to heed the admonitions of three policemen. All eyes focused upon the blackboard, where presently a youth with a piece of chalk inscribed three names followed by cabalistic numbers.

A buzz of conversation swept the crowd. There was a mingling of satisfaction and grumbling, with plenty of curses under the breath. Shrill voices of women were heard, and their presence was further marked by the gayest dresses and hats.

It was the regular gathering of a few of the race bettors of the national capital. Inside the newspaper office operators were ceaselessly answering the query, "Who won?" and the inevitable sequel, "What did it pay?"

Called 'Gambling Mad'

Washington is gambling mad. No city in the country, so the knowing professional gamblers say, has a worse case of betting fever. Government employes by the thousands wager every afternoon a sum that in the aggregate looks like an item from an appropriation bill before congress. There are bookmakers or their agents in all the government buildings.

When George Carter took office recently as public printer, he found horse race gambling among employes of the government printing office so widespread that he was forced to suspend some employes and to threaten general dismissal to stop it. Women as well as men were "plunging" and, according to Carter's investigation, devoting more time to a study of "form charts" and "dope" sheets on the horses than to their duties.

Some Cases Are Cited

There's the case of a young man who not so long ago was a secretary to somebody of importance. He was thinking about getting married, he said, so he saved his money. It amounted to $3000 when he started betting, with visions of a big pile of money. He's a taxicab driver today, and he isn't thinking about anything much except getting three meals and a bed.

There's a telegraph operator with a good job, who follows a regular routine, saving religiously until he has $300, then spending it all on the ponies. When it's all gone he starts to save another $300. He has a "system."

A young woman who came here as a war worker and lost her position with the signing of the armistice is reputed among her friends to have won $12,000 on the races since then. She expects to lose it all some of these days.

"Then," she said, "I'm going back to Minnesota where the only horses I'll know anything about will be the kind you hitch to a plow or a wagon."

This Judge Has Cure For Erring Husbands

NEW YORK—Magistrate John Kochendorfer of this city has begun to put into effect his doctrine, recently expounded, that the right kind of punishment for erring husbands will end marital infelicity.

Holding that husbands are to blame for seven-eighths of all domestic rows, the magistrate announced that instead of sending them to jail he would sentence them to any one of ten tasks they might choose. Then, the next convicted husband who was arraigned before him for abusing his wife was ordered to do common housework for a week, or go to the workhouse. The choices Magistrate Kochendorfer allows his prisoners follow:

Prepare the family breakfast every morning.

Take care of the children one hour every day.

Buy candy and fruit for the wife and children once a week.

Stay home one night a week.

Take the family out every Sunday —to church in the morning and for a walk in the afternoon.

Allow the wife to handle the finances of the family.

Start a savings bank account.

Wait on himself instead of asking the wife to wait on him.

Repeat every day to his wife, at least once, his marriage vows.

Wash the dishes every night.

Magistrate Kochendorfer says that few men recognize the daily monotony of a woman's life in keeping a household together on small pay. The men have some variety even if only in going from their homes to their offices, but the wives are sentenced to monotonous drudgery.

"Men who abuse their wives need waking up more than they need jail," the magistrate expounded. "The average man would be cured permanently if he could be set to the tasks to which his wife is committed and thus learn how much less attractive is her day than his."

SERBIA PEOPLE SAY DEVIL WILL TAKE CLEAN BABIES!

Noted Expert Gives Reasons Why Campaign By American Nurses Is Necessary

Editor's Note: Colonel Folks was formerly Commissioner of Charities in New York City. Now he is special advisor of the American Red Cross in Europe. At the request of the United Press, he has written this summary of his observations and conclusions in Serbia.

By COL. HOMER FOLKS
(Written for the United Press)

BELGRADE—I have just completed a study of the work of the American nurses who have been helping the Serbian government during its difficult priod of reconstruction.

Their chief handicap has been the fact that medical science in Serbia is bound up with an enormous growth of myths and superstitions. The American nurse meets a cordial welcome everywhere in Serbia. The Serbians do not altogether understand her, they pity her for being unmarried, but they like her tremendously.

Getting public health across in Serbia is a pioneer undertaking. One doctor to 30,000 people is about the usual figure, and the trained nurse is unknown. In the absence of the doctor and the nurse, the Serbian grandmothers have accumulated a large store of traditions, maxims and myths, in regard to sickness and its causes, prevention and cure. Some of these firmly established traditions are:

Dangerous To Be Clean

It is very dangerous for a baby to be entirely clean, for the devil prefers to take a clean baby. The dirt which accumulates behind the ears and on the scalp of a baby who is properly neglected soon forms a sort of crust. It is very dangerous to remove this, for the devil would almost certainly abduct the child. The crust of dirt is also useful in keeping away tuberculosis and meningitis.

It is necessary to bind the arms of small babies closely to their sides, and to bind their legs closely together and wrap them up tightly in order to straighten the baby's arms and legs. The nurses explain that babies' arms and legs are not bound in America and that nevertheless the Americans have relatively straight arms and legs. It is difficult to secure real conviction on this point, however. The chain of proof to the Serbian mothers is very clear. All Serbian babies are born with crooked legs and arms. They are bound tightly in order to straighten them. The grown-up Serbs have straight arms and legs. What better proof could be desired?

Day Is Serious, Too

It is extremely dangerous to do anything whatever for a child on a Friday, which was the Turkish Sunday. One mother who was asked to do something for the child on Friday explained that she had learned by bitter experience that this must not be done. She had done so twice. The first time the boy almost immediately fell off a horse and broke his legs. The second time he came down with scarlet fever.

It is a very dangerous thing for a baby to be taken out of the room in which he was born until he is at least forty days old. Since the rooms have very little light and air, this handicaps the baby's prospects very seriously.

Since doctors are usually not within reach, a variety of useful methods of doing up wounds and injuries have been devised. Soot scraped from the inside of the chimney is one very good thing to apply to the wound. Fresh cabbage leaves or fresh garlic are even more highly favored as dressings for wounds.

Hot Fat on Eyes

For eye diseases a liberal application of very hot fat is recommended. Sometimes blindness results, but that, of course, is because the disease is so bad and not because of the hot fat.

For thirty days before Christmas and for forty days before Easter only bread and beans are to be eaten. For undernourished school children, so restricted a diet for so long a period often has very serious results.

New Hospital Heating Is Under Construction

The new heating plant for the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital is under construction and when completed will be a modern cement stucco structure 40x50 feet housing its two 125 horse power boilers and other necessary adjuncts. The centrifugal pump which has a pumping capacity at 300 gallons of water per minute will maintain a pressure of 50 pounds at all points in the building regardless of elevation or volume drawn. Cement vaults are being provided for the transformer; the various pumps—vacuum, oil feed, etc., and a cement floor will be laid.

People Demand Popular Airs, Says Russ Artist

CHICAGO—It isn't jazz itself that Moissaye Boguslawski, famed Russian pianist, objects to; it is the interpretation—the shimmy and other shameful wiggles that have made a gutter playmate of syncopation, he told the music trades convention, now in session at the Drake hotel.

"Jazz really is inspiring in itself," he said. "There is too wide a gap between classical music and jazz. It is high time the high-brow composers dismounted from their high horses and composed some popular music that the people of this generation want for dancing and amusement.

"Let us have something useful, for I claim that music is a utility. Let these high-brows take up American themes instead of going to Europe for their inspirations. For instance, take the now famous Stillman case. I think George Cohan could give that some such title as 'Distilled Love' and give us something the people want."

Mr. Boguslawski has been at the Dunning hospital for the insane for some time now, trying out music as a cure for insanity. Last week, the first patient, a woman, was discharged as cured by musical therapeutics.

"So far," the pianist said in discussing his work among the insane, "I have treated only the stuporous types. The hysterical kind is harder, but I am sure that a string quartet will have its effect on even the worst cases."

Alligator Pear Wins Place In Production

SANTA CRUZ—The Avocada, more familiarly known as the "alligator" pear, is destined to become a product of the northern part of California, according to H. R. Dakin, a local rancher. Dakin has experimented successfully with the fruit and has found that the climate and soil are well-fitted for its culture.

The alligator pear is a native product of the Philippines, where it is used as a substitute for butter. The meat of the fruit is considered as being of high nutritive value, and in the United States is used chiefly in salads, being very "rich" in substance.

"I wasn't going to beg for bread, ma'am."

Priest Dies At 102, Oldest One In World

WINNIPEG—Father Demase Dandurand, said to be the oldest Catholic priest in the world, is dead at St. Boniface, a suburb of Winnipeg. He was 102 years old. Father Dandurand was born at La Prairie, Quebec, in 1819. The record of his birth is still in the parish archives. He was appointed to Ottawa in 1844 when the present capital of Canada was known as Bytown and labored there for thirty years. He came to St. Boniface in 1875. Winnipeg, across Red River, was a group of cabins under the walls of Fort Garry. The young priest saw the buffalo vanish and the settlers come. He saw wigwam villages give place to towns and cities and the prairie wilderness change into prosperous farms. On his 100th birthday two years ago, he celebrated high mass in St. Boniface cathedral. He was present a little later at the reception to the Prince of Wales in Winnipeg.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY LEADERS SEEKING TO FIND ISSUES

Congressional Campaign Of 1922 Under Way Already At National Capital

By L. C. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Sharp political lightings, presaging the storm of the congressional elections of 1922, are forking the sky hereabouts, and the issues of that campaign are beginning to loom up like thunderclouds.

For despite the fact that the republican administration has been only a little over three months in power, democratic party leaders are already active. They count each day of the G. O. P. administration a day in the net campaign, and are proceeding as though the elections were only a short way off.

The issues which have already taken definite shape, in the democratic mind, at least, are these:

1—Governmental expenditures and the tax burden.
2—The tariff.
3—World peace.

The democrats are proceeding on the theory, their leaders in congress acknowledge, that the republican administration will accentuate those issues day by day and month by month until they will furnish all the material needed for a first-class fight for control of congress. The democratic campaign, as exemplified in the tactics of leading democrats in congress, is to call public attention day by day to failures, real or apparent, of the republicans to live up to campaign pledges of economy, reduction of living costs through slashing of federal spending, aids to business through speedy tariff revision, rehabilitation of the railroads and kindred domestic questions.

They have already begun to call attention to what they name the delay of the Harding administration in working out an international arrangement to insure peace, as a substitute for the Wilson League of Nations, Senator Underwood, democratic leader of the senate, did that in a speech on the pending Navy Bill.

Watching for Mistakes

"You said when you rejected the Versailles treaty that you favored some international understanding," said Underwood to the republicans. "You have been in power three months, and what have you done?"

It is by that sort of thing the democrats hope to get the country to watching for every mistake. Error of omission or of commission, and every delay of the G. O. P. By the time the campaign actually begins, they hope to have the voters in a state of indignation." Republicans in and out of congress are aware of this. They are urging leaders to follow Harding's tip and cut government expenditures until it hurts. Hurting a few officeholders to the benefit of the great army of voters back home would be not only wise economics, but extremely wise politics, these somewhat worried republicans argue.

ONE MILLION DAILY GIVEN FROM U. S. TO AID EUROPE

Nation Now Has Credit Of Two Billions, Not Taking Account Of War Debts

By RALPH FORD COUCH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Private American investors now are "grub-staking" foreign industry and foreign governments at the rate of $1,000,000 a day through purchase of bonds, stocks and other securities, according to estimates made by New York bankers which have reached government officials here.

Dollars are flowing abroad in a steady stream in search of hope for large dividends. The stream began immediately after the outbreak of the great war and has continued ever since almost without break. During the last 12 months, approximately $350,000,000 has been loaned to foreign borrowers, despite the nation-wide economic depression in the United States.

Represent Savings

American dollars now are building docks and packing houses in South America, municipal waterworks and tram lines in cities of Switzerland and other European countries, elevators in Canada, and factories in France. And the dollars that are working abroad are not the dollars only of American capitalists. In large proportion they were invested only after having been saved from wage and salary envelopes. Through the Edge law the foreign trade and banking corporations now being organized in many parts of the country, every American who can save a dollar is being given the chance to get his opportunity at foreign investment, if he so chooses.

At the beginning of the great war, the United States owed European investors approximately $2,000,000,000. This was money which Europeans loaned during the big expansion period that began in 1890. It was represented by stocks in mines, railroads and manufacturing plants. It paid more than $80,000,000 a year to the foreign owners in interest charges and in dividends.

Credit Soon Exhausted

Soon after the war, Europe began to find herself badly in need of enormous credits in the United States. Gradually, the $2,000,000,000 came back to this country to help pay Europe's rapidly mounting debt here. Soon the credit was exhausted. The United States had earned enough to buy back all the foreign interests in domestic industry.

Then the United States began to loan. At first the loans were counted in millions. Now the total is approximately $2,000,000,000, or almost precisely the amount which the United States formerly owed European investors.

This grand total of American investments abroad is in addition to about $13,000,000,000 loaned to foreign governments by this government, in $10,000,000,000 worth of direct war loans and about $3,500,000,000 credit on surplus war and navy materials.

Hindenburg Statue Is On Sale As Firewood

"IRON HINDENBURG:

"For sale, in whole or in parts, for firewood. Apply Rudolf Mosse, Berlin W. 8, Leipziger St., 103."

The gigantic statue—a wooden Hindenburg—was erected during the war at the end of Berlin's Avenue of Victory.

It was to be covered with nails, driven one by one by patriotic Germans, who, for the privilege of putting a bit more iron into the field marshal, were to pay a small contribution to German war charities.

The idea flivvered. Long before the war ended what was at first a popular pilgrimage had tired Berliners, and the statue remained, its woodwork rotting in huge uncovered patches and its scattered rash of nails rusting.

About a year ago, the statue, always an eyesore, was removed. No one was sufficiently interested to ask about it. Its fate was not known until Herr Mosse inserted his ad.

Japan Tries To Get Acquainted With U. S.

WASHINGTON—Observers here of the trend of world affairs are becoming impressed with the evident desire of Japan to get acquainted with America.

While some rather jingoistically regard this with apprehension, the general opinion among officials and members of congress here is that Japan is taking the right means of making the United States and its people known to Japan and its people, and that, therefore, it is by that much diminishing the danger of serious difference between the two nations.

The evidence of the Japanese desire to get acquainted with America, whatever the purpose may be, is seen here in the presence constantly of a substantial contingent of Japanese newspaper men. The visitors' register in the senate press gallery, where foreign journalists inscribe their names, show that during the present and the last session of congress fifteen Japanese journalists looked in on the senate.

This is remarkable when it is considered that from no other nation have there come half so many journalists in double that length of time. English journalists rank next in number, but the register shows fewer than half a dozen of them. That it is apparent to observers here that Japan is sending her trained observers to this country to go among the people, ascertain sentiment, and go back home better qualified to interpret American attitudes and policies.

The visiting Japanese do not remain long in Washington. For the most part they stay here two or three days or a week, and then go to other cities. Many of them have toured the country virtually from end to end. Those who while here expressed any sentiments regarding things American, most politely indicated that what they saw pleased and interested them. As to anti-Japanese sentiment, or hostility, they have little to say. One or two of them, however, have stated while here that except for certain localities, they found no such feeling.

It will be made up largely of men with previous military training, and will have a specialized enlisted personnel, such as cooks, mechanics, bakers and other distinct vocations.

Worry About Seat In Your Trousers, What?

WASHINGTON—When you buy a suit, do you worry about the seat of the trousers wearing out too quickly?

Evidently a good many persons do, for the government bureau of standards here has perfected a machine which tests the wear in "inconvenient points" as the bureau modestly puts it.

Describing the tests applied by the machine to textiles to determine resistance to "abrasion" the government reports states that "every one who has paid good money for a suit of clothes and then had it wear out at inconvenient points, can appreciate the value of the test."

GERMAN BOND ISSUE COLDLY RECEIVED BY FINANCIERS

Total Reparation Debt To Be Sought In Markets Throughout World

By CHAS. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON—"A soon as is practicable" after July 1, the first lot of Germany's $33,000,000,000 reparations bond issue will be offered to the world in the open market.

So far, there is little to be learned as to when "as soon as practicable" means.

The first installment of the bonds —$3,000,000,000—will be delivered to the Reparations commission on July 1. A second installment is due November 1 of $,500,000,000. At the same time Germany is to deliver a third series, totaling $20,500,000,000, to be held without coupons until the Reparations commission decides Germany is able to pay interest and sinking fund from her stated annual payments of $500,000,000 and a twenty-six per cent tax on her exports.

Not All To Be Issued

That represents a total of $33,000,000,000 to be delivered. Not all of these will be issued. The ultimatum to Germany provided for payment of this sum in bonds, plus $750,000,000 representing Belgium's debt to the Allies. From the total must be deducted the amount Germany has already paid in reparations —so far, $2,000,000,000. The total to be issued will be roughly $31,750,000,000.

The Reparations commission will await a favorable opportunity. to offer the first of the bonds to the market, according to plans. Though procedure has not been definitely decided upon, it is thought they, as the central governing special body will be formed, comprising delegates from bond-holding countries.

The bonds represent Germany's total reparations debt, and they or their value will be apportioned by the commission among Allied and associated countries to whom reparations are due.

No Authoritative Estimate

The solution contemplated is to permit the recipients of the bonds to do most of the marketing, or to hold the bonds as they choose. In this case precautions will be taken against possible "dumping" by some country willing to accept too low a price for them.

It is believed the first lot marketed will total from $50,000,000 to $500,000,000. There is no authoritative estimate so far, though it is certain the marketing will be as soon and for as great an amount as the commission thinks possible.

Financiers so far have shown little interest in the issue. What little they have said about them has been pessimistic, and while they retain this attitude and the bond market remains bad, it is unlikely the newborn, post-war baby will be sent out to earn money for its parents.

King Oil On Throne During British Strike

BY LLOYD ALLEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON—King Oil has suddenly come in for widespread popularity here and King Coal's dictatorship over British industry is a thing of the past, according to expert opinion.

England's great coal stoppage was responsible for popularizing fuel oil.

All over the country factories, railways, power plants, hospitals, turned to foreign-produced fuel oil the minute their coal bins were emptied, when 1,200,000 British miners refused to accept drastic wage reductions and stopped work.

Fuel oil, one of America's favorite fuels, but hitherto virtually unknown in England has come to stay, according to authoritative prediction.

British public services and industry will never again be wholly dependent on coal.

Unacquainted with the simplicity of installing oil burners, the British people were rather astounded to learn that immense power plants could, in an emergency, be converted in a very few days from coal to oil.

That's just what happened. When the coal pinch caused widespread embarrassment, fuel oil firms were consulted and assured all inquirers big stocks of fuel oil were being held in the country and quick deliveries could be made from abroad to replenish the great tanks.

Large stocks of oil burning equipment were also at hand.

England's general public was highly gratified. Presence of fuel oil meant continuation of great lighting plants and power plants providing juice for street car systems.

MUST HAVE BEEN NEW

"Was your second-hand truck repaired by an expert?" asked Farmer Chessman.

"I'm a little suspicious that it wasn't," replied Farmer Brookfield. "The young feller who did the work took the machine all apart, put it together again so it runs as easy as a gold watch, an' charged me only ten dollars."

Foch Does Not Like To Get In Limelight

PARIS—Marshal Foch has an awful time of it every time they trot him out to shine at official ceremonies.

The little grey-eyed gentleman, who looks more like a professor of Greek than the greatest soldier of his age, was practically put out when they cast him and Cardinal Dupoy as the co-stars for the Napolean centenary. For while the Cardinal, being used to the purple was quite at ease, the commander of the mightiest army ever gathered together, most distinctly was not.

He was particularly embarrased when they brought him the famous "sword of Austerlitz," which "the little corporal" had brandished at that battle. He fingered it gingerly, as though it were a lighted firecracker. Then he laid it across his knees, but that didn't suit him. Next he stood it up by the side of the gilded chair in which they had placed him. But, fearing it might fall down with an awful clatter at the solemnest moment of the service, he took it up in his hands again. It was more of a nuisance than a crown.

One of those near to him says he heard the marshal muttering into his moustache:

"Yes, I suppose the next time they will bring me the 'sun of Austerlitz' —and then what'll I do with it?"

Child Prodigy Artist Eighteen Months Old

CARDIFF, Wales—Helen Williams of South Wales is stated to be the world's youngest artist. Her claim to this distinction is that, although she is only 18 months old she sits up in her cot every day and with a pencil and drawing board sketches the things that adorn her nursery.

Two of her studies, drawn from memory, are being exhibited at the annual exhibition of the Royal Drawing society in London.

Her pictures are an outline of a cat with a ribbon bow and a running gamecock.

Our theory is that the poet had been hearing patrons read the titles aloud when he wrote "A Little Learning Is a Dangerous Thing."

Oldest Poilu Of Big War Taken By Death

PARIS—The "oldest poilu" of the great war, Monsieur Surugue, mayor of Auxerre, in Burgundy, has just died.

He was 75 years old when the mobilization call came early in August of 1914. Far beyond the military age, the rugged old mayor signed up as a volunteer, and by dint of bluffing, cajoling and threatening the army doctors, finally got himself accepted for the service.

And he didn't have any rear-sinecure, either. From 1914 until early 1919 he did the dirty work of a private, then of a corporal and sergeant, in a fighting unit, and went over the top with all the rest of the bright young men.

He had a great civic reception in 1919 at Auxerre, when covered with mud and glory, he marched into his neglected town hall, displaying his Croix de Guerre, Medaille Militaire, and Legion of Honor. Latterly the old "dean of the poilus," as the French refer to him, removed to Paris. But the flat air of the capital proved more detrimental to his robust old frame than the snow of Douaumont or the marshes of St. Gond; and at the super-Clemencauvian age of 82 the grand old man has finally been gathered to his lost comrades of the war.

Hens Like Water, Is Asserted By Warden

CHICAGO—The oldest joke in the world—next to the mother-in-law wheeze, has been exploded with a loud report. From time immemorial the tradition has prevailed that hens had a particular aversion to water, and cartoonists since the year one have pictured a distraught hen on the banks of a stream in which her family of ducklings were disporting themselves.

Ed St. Clair, game warden, upsets the old tradition. On one of the farms under state supervision he uses hens to hatch the eggs of wild fowl, and the 300 hens under his charge have learned to follow their adopted children into the water. Each hen on the farm raises five families of ducks or pheasants each year. St. Clair says that these hens go into the water readily, leading their charges.

His theory is that their aversion to water has been overcome by their constant association with water fowl. When anything threatens the ducklings, the whole family hastens to the nearest water and plunges in, the hen leading the procession.

NEW YORK STATE POPULAR

According to figures made public by Commissioner of Immigration Wallis, of the 441,444 immigrants who arrived in the United States during the past six months, 139,972 have settled in New York state. In the period mentioned there were more Italians among the number than any other race, the total being 95,194. English immigrants came second with a total of 33,709, while third place was a tie with the Irish and the Spanish arrivals amounting to 21,686.

The statistics showed that the state receiving the second largest number was Pennsylvania, where 43,904 settled; Massachusetts third, with 38,803, and Illinois fourth, with 25,211.

SAN FERNANDO AND BRAND WILL NOW BE IMPROVED

H. E. White's Proposition Is Accepted By Board Of Trustees Last Night

Accepting a proposition submitted by H. E. White to dedicate necessary ground, the board of city trustees last night adopted a resolution relative to the proposed improvement of the northeast corner of San Fernando road and Brand boulevard.

The matter was brought before the board in the following communication from T. W. Watson, city manager:

"In regard to proposition submitted by H. E. White to dedicate necessary ground for widening the east roadway of Brand boulevard at the intersection of San Fernando road and Brand boulevard:

"I have discussed this matter with H. E. White and have to report that he is willing to dedicate to the city of Glendale for street purposes sufficient ground to widen the east roadway of Brand boulevard at San Fernando road in accordance with plans submitted to your board in our report of May 12 and as set forth in resolution presented herewith.

"If it should please your board to accept Mr. White's proposition and adopt the resolution submitted herewith, we would respectfully request authorization to negotiate with the Pacific Electric Railway company and the Glendale school board for the acquirement for street purposes of ground necessary to be taken from school grounds and railroad right of way, respectively, to improve the intersection of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road as set forth on plot submitted with our report of May 12, print of which is attached hereto.

Resolution Adopted

"Whereas, this board acting on the request of committees representing the Chamber of Commerce and the Brand Boulevard association has instituted proceedings under Ordinance No. 432 for the widening of the east roadway of Brand boulevard at the intersection of San Fernando road in order to provide a suitable entrance to the center of the city from San Fernando road by way of Brand boulevard; and

"Whereas, H. E. White, interested in property at the northeast corner of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road, a portion of which will be required in order to carry out the proposed plans for the widening of Brand boulevard as provided under Ordinance No. 432, has submitted an alternative plan that will permit of effecting this improvement in as satisfactory manner as proposed under such ordinance and has offered to dedicate to the city of Glendale without cost all the ground needed to carry out such proposed alternate plan, provided that present legal proceedings for the widening of Brand boulevard at this intersection be abandoned and that his property located at the northeast corner of San Fernando road and Brand boulevard be relieved from assessment for such improvement; and

"Whereas, a report was filed on the 9th instant with this board by the city manager indicating that the alternative plan suggested by Mr. White will cost the property holders within the district a less sum than the plan proposed under Ordinance No. 432;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that Mr. White's proposition be accepted with the provision that that portion of his property that will be included within the assessment district be assessed for the proposed improvement on the same basis as all other property included in such district;

"Be it further resolved, that inasmuch as this proposed improvement will not only directly enhance the value of property in the immediate vicinity thereof but that the benefits accruing therefrom will also be distributed largely to the entire frontage on Brand boulevard north of San Fernando road, it is therefore hereby declared to be the sense of this board that the assessments for such improvement should be distributed equally to all of the frontage within an assessment district as set forth on plot attached hereto and as more particularly described in Ordinance No. 432, such assessment district to include all the frontage on Brand boulevard from San Fernando road north to one hundred and fifty (150) feet north of Wilson avenue;

"Be it further resolved, that upon the filing with the city of Glendale by Mr. White of deeds conveying to the city for street purposes sufficient ground for the purpose of widening Brand boulevard at San Fernando road as set forth on diagram attached hereto and the acceptance of such deeds by the city of Glendale, that this board will take the necessary legal procedure to abandon the widening proceedings as instituted under Ordinance No. 432;

"Be it further resolved, that upon the acceptance of the aforesaid deeds and the abandonment of legal proceedings under Ordinance No. 432, the city of Glendale will proceed immediately thereupon to institute proceedings for the improvement of the intersection of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road in accordance with report of city manager filed on June 9, 1921, as follows:

" 'This proposed improvement will consist of first, the extension of the present storm drain culverts about 120 feet north from their present north terminus at the south side of Forest avenue, and of reinforcing that portion which is now under the sidewalk between Forest avenue and San Fernando road; second, building new curbs and sidewalks along the east side of the new roadway; and third, grading and paving the new road together with the raising of the grade of the north half of San Fernando road and the east drive of Brand boulevard and the repaving of the same to a point about sixty feet north of the north line of Forest avenue.' Watching Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero—Left Fielder Nicholson of the Braves. His clout in the fifteenth inning beat the Cardinals, 5 to 4.

Another homer which helped was Earl Smith's in the first inning against the Athletics. It insured a 3 to 2 victory for Cleveland.

Aside from the Braves-Cardinals extra inning there were two more long fights. The Pirates went seventeen innings before Maranville's hit won from Brooklyn, 6 to 5.

The Giants were soaked by the Cubs, 5 to 4, in thirteen innings.

Cincinnati and the Phillies staged a slugging match, won by the former, 9 to 7. The Reds made fourteen hits and the Phillies nineteen.

No homers for the Yanks but they beat the White Sox, 7 to 3.

Incidents of the day were Washington's victory over the Browns, 6 to 3, and Boston's win from Detroit, 8 to 3.

Babe Ruth has met his match—but it isn't human.

Ruth flailed away yesterday at balls delivered by a pitching machine operated by compressed air. Slow balls, high balls, low balls, fast and curved balls floated from the nozzle of the machine and Babe couldn't touch them.

He declared the difficulty was that the batter cannot tell when the ball will be let loose.

Mrs. Mary A. Archer To Change Residence

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Mary A. Archer, who has been a resident of Glendale for the past eight years, will leave this city with her son, Lyle, for Weed, California, where she will make her future home. From San Francisco Mrs. Archer will go to Portland, where she will spend a week with friends and relatives, after which she will join Lyle at Weed. Her brother, B. O. Arney, is a resident of that city.

During her long stay in Glendale Mrs. Archer cultivated a large number of friends and it is with much regret that she is leaving the community. Her home at 523 East Lomita avenue has been sold to J. D. Archer.

VALLEY SUPPLY CO. NOW LOCATED IN ITS NEW HOME

V. M. Hollister Has Large Quarters For His Fast Increasing Business

The Valley Supply company, one of the oldest established feed and fuel businesses in the San Fernando valley, has moved from its original location, 148 North Brand boulevard, to the corner of Wilson and Maryland avenues, where it occupies a new $15,000 office and warehouse building.

V. M. Hollister, owner of the concern, has fitted out his well lighted offices in the corner of the building which affords a good display space for poultry supplies and accessories.

In the warehouse, a great driveway extends through the building, facilitating the receiving and shipping of supplies. In the north half of the building the grain and feed will be handled, while in the south half plentiful space is provided for hay and fuel.

Spur Track in Rear

At the rear of the building, a Pacific Electric spur track makes it possible to unload supplies directly onto the warehouse platform or drop into chutes of an eighteen-foot pit where it is conveyed by elevators to any one of four bins. The elevators have a forty-foot lift, extending twenty-two feet above the ground floor. They are driven, in conjunction with other machinery, by a twenty-five horsepower motor.

Mixing machines, hoppers, cleaners, grinders and dust containers, the latter operated with fans, give the Valley Supply company the most modern plant of its kind on the coast and with 14,200 square feet of floor space it would seem that it is built to meet the demands for many years to come.

World's Richest Bride Receives Presents Of Cripples In Poverty

CHICAGO, June 17.—The home of the world's richest bride was today banked with simple little presents from poor cripples she had befriended.

Miss Lolita Armour, daughter of J. Ogden Armour, multi-millionaire packer, is to be married tomorrow to John J. Mitchell, Jr.

Miss Armour, herself once a cripple, and miraculously saved by an operation, has devoted her life in rehabilitating others.

Although she can afford the most luxurious wedding money could provide, the ceremony is to be very simple.

"Extravagance is a sin," she said. "I want my wedding to be a lucky one, therefore I will not start out by wasting."

Miss Armour's wedding gown is a simple little thing of white velvet and quite inexpensive. She is not going to wear any jewels at the ceremony.

Her trousseau is made up mostly of "left-overs.' '

"Starting on an economical basis, a man and woman have a better chance," she said.

"If I were to lavish a small fortune on my trousseau and gown, memory would bring only regrets to me later on.

"It would be only selfishness and I don't believe selfish people are ever happy—or lucky."

After the wedding there will be a short honeymoon and then the couple will return to "keep house."

WARFARE LAWS ARE BEING FORGOTTEN IN IRISH FIGHT

Secret Murder Gang Busy, Is Belief; Women Are Reported Victims

By CHAS. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON—Is there a secret murder gang in Ireland that, ignoring every law of warfare, or even civilization, adds terror to the fight between Sinn Fein and the British government?

Every few days in Ireland someone is found dead, often mutilated, in a field or on a road; or someone is taken from his or her home at midnight and left a bloody corpse within gunshot of terror-stricken relatives.

Assassination in Ireland include men, women and children; every stage of life from childhood to old age. There is never a murder but one side or the other—sometimes both—denounces the crime as a final proof of the other's brutality.

Armed men recently took a young Ulster woman from her home, in the middle of the night and shot her nearby, leaving on her body a sign: "Convicted spy. Traitors beware. I. R. A."

A fake Sinn Fein "Bulletin" was published, giving what purported to be a Sinn Fein apology for the crime.

Armed men also recently took a couple of southern Irish Sinn Fein officers from their wives' arms and shot them.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, in a subsequent speech in the house of commons, charged that the men—known to be republican leaders—were shot by their own men because they were peaceable.

A week ago, two women were killed when automobiles in which they were driving with their husbands—police officials whom Sinn Fein was known to have blacklisted—were ambushed. The authorities denounced the acts as atrocious. Sinn Fein, in an official statement declared the police and military in Ireland, "waging a ruthless war which the British government has publicly acknowledged to be a war," cannot fight Sinn Fein in the morning and at night ride about openly in automobiles with their wives.

There is no other term than war for the fight in Ireland. But it is war without a parallel—consisting of open lootings, open, official incendiarism, ambushes and cold-blooded murder that respects neither age nor sex.

Breaking Of Dry Laws Held To Be Bolshevism

WASHINGTON — Folks—particularly those of you who have not sworn off completely and those who hope to get a beer prescription for that chronic ailment—meet your new prohibition commissioner, Roy A. Haynes, a rotund, pleasant, genial, yea, jolly, little man, but earnest and conscientious withal.

Mr. Haynes got on the job recently and after surveying the situation pleasantly, but formally, averred that he intends to enforce the prohibition law to the full extent of his power and called on all citizens—drinkers as well as preprohibition teetotalers—to help him make the country as dry as the law contemplates.

As to that little matter of medicinal prescriptions of beer, he had found on his desk some proposed regulations for the disposition of beer for such purpose, purely tentative regulations which he would study and after maturing his conclusions thereon, would put in final form.

But, if in the meantime the commissioner added, it should appear that congress intends to pass within a reasonably short time the Volstead supplementary prohibition bill, forbidding the principle of beer for medicinal purposes, the beer regulations will be withheld. It would be folly, likewise a cruel and unusual punishment, to start a lot of brewing and prescribing only to deprive the invalids of their medicine

Efficiency is to be the watchword of his administration, said Mr. Haynes, who thereupon proceeded to speak a little piece intended for the soulful meditation of home brewers, patrons of bootleggers and others. Do they intend to be law breakers or law abiding citizens? Mr. Haynes rises to inquire.

"In unmistakable language America has spoken for prohibition. Federal constitutional provision has been made for it. Laws have been enacted for its enforcement. The law should be enforced. The man or woman or agency which condones its violation; or becomes a party to its violations; or encourages a sentiment of laxity in regard to its enforcement, is helping to create, consciously or unconsciously, a very serious condition.

"At the very outset of my administration of this office, I want to preach the gospel of the need of law enforcement. If there was ever a time in the history of America when all good citizens should unite on a program for law enforcement, in the home, in the school, in the church and in the press, it is today. To 'wink at' the breaking of one law and preach the observance of another is unpatriotic and un-American.

ORDINANCE NO. 449

AN ORDINANCE OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE CALLING A SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD IN SAID CITY ON THE 28TH DAY OF JUNE, 1921, AND SUBMITTING TO THE QUALIFIED VOTERS OF SAID CITY TWO SEVERAL PROPOSITIONS OF INCURRING AN INDEBTEDNESS FOR THE ACQUISITION, CONSTRUCTION AND COMPLETION OF CERTAIN MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS OF SAID CITY AND PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS THEREFOR.

Whereas, The Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale at its adjourned regular meeting held on the 6th day of June, 1921, by vote of two-thirds of all its members, duly passed and adopted resolutions determining that the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition, construction, and completion by said City of Glendale of those two certain municipal improvements hereinafter in this Ordinance described, and that the estimated cost of each of said municipal improvements is as hereinafter stated, and is, and will be, too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said City,

Now, Therefore, The Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale do ordain as follows:

Section 1. That a special election be held, and the same is hereby called to be held, in the City of Glendale on the 28th day of June, 1921, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of said City two several propositions of incurring an indebtedness and issuing bonds of said City therefor in the amounts and for the purposes set forth in said resolutions and as hereinafter stated.

Section 2. The first proposition of incurring an indebtedness to be submitted at said election shall be as follows:

The objects and purposes for which said indebtedness is proposed to be incurred and bonds issued therefor are as follows: The acquisition of land and the construction and completion thereon of municipal buildings for the purpose of storing materials, supplies, vehicles and equipment owned by the City of Glendale; and the estimated cost of said improvement is the sum of $26,000.00. That the amount of the principal of said indebtedness to be incurred therefor is the sum of $26,000.00, and that the maximum rate of interest to be paid on such indebtedness shall be six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, which rate shall not be exceeded in the issuance of bonds for such indebtedness. Said first proposition of incurring indebtedness shall be designated on the ballots used at said election by the following question, to-wit:

"Shall the City of Glendale incur a bonded debt of $26,000.00 for the purpose of acquiring land and constructing and completing thereon municipal buildings for the purpose of storing materials, supplies, vehicles and equipment owned by the City of Glendale?"

That if said first proposition for incurring indebtedness so submitted at said election receives the requisite number of votes, to-wit, two-thirds of the votes of the qualified voters voting at such election, bonds of said City in the amount of $26,000.00 shall be issued and sold for the purpose of acquiring, constructing and completing said municipal improvement. Both principal and interest of said bonds shall be payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness.

Section 3. The second proposition of incurring an indebtedness to be submitted at said election shall be as follows:

The objects and purposes for which said indebtedness is proposed to be incurred and bonds issued therefor are as follows: The acquisition of land and the improvement of the same for public park purposes, including the construction thereon of a public swimming pool and appurtenances; and the estimated cost of said improvement is the sum of $22,000.00. That the amount of the principal of said indebtedness to be incurred therefor is the sum of $22,000.00, and that the maximum rate of interest to be paid on such indebtedness shall be six per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, which rate shall not be exceeded in the issuance of bonds for such indebtedness. Said second proposition of incurring indebtedness shall be designated on the ballots used at said election by the following question, to-wit:

"Shall the City of Glendale incur a bonded debt of $22,000.00 for the purpose of acquiring land and improving the same for public park purposes, including the construction thereon of a public swimming pool and appurtenances?"

That if said second proposition for incurring indebtedness so submitted at said election receives the requisite number of votes, to-wit, two-thirds of the votes of the qualified voters voting at such election, bonds of said City in the amount of $22,000.00 shall be issued and sold for the purpose of acquiring, constructing and completing said municipal improvement. Both principal and interest of said bonds shall be payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness.

Section 4. That the election hereby called shall be, and the same is hereby consolidated with the general municipal election to be held in the City of Glendale on the 28th day of June, 1921, and heretofore called and ordered by the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale to be held on said date by Ordinance No. 446, entitled "An Ordinance ordering the holding of a general municipal election on Tuesday, June 28, 1921, in the City of Glendale for the purpose of electing officers of said City, and providing for the participation of qualified electors of the Glendale City School District residing in territory outside of the City of Glendale in the election of members of the Board of Education," passed May 26, 1921. That the election precincts and polling places within the City of Glendale heretofore established and designated by said Ordinance No. 446, and the officers of election heretofore established and designated for said precincts in the City of Glendale by said Ordinance No. 446 are hereby established, designated and appointed as the precincts, polling places and officers of election for the special election hereby ordered to be held for the purposes aforesaid, and shall be the same as those set forth in said Ordinance No. 446 for all precincts in the City of Glendale.

Section 5. The polls for said election shall be opened at six o'clock of the morning of the day of election, and shall be kept open until seven o'clock of the afternoon of the same day, when the polls shall be closed, except and provided, however, that if at the said hour for closing the polls there are any voters in the poliing place, or in the line at the door thereof, who are qualified to vote and have not been able to do so since appearing, the polls shall be kept open a sufficient time to enable them to vote, but no one who shall arrive at the polling place after seven o'clock in the afternoon shall be entitled to vote, although the polls may be open when he arrives.

Section 6. That on the ballots to be used at said general municipal election in addition to the other matters required by law, there shall be printed the following:

Section 7. If an elector shall stamp a cross (X) in the voting square after the printed word "Yes" opposite any question or proposition his vote shall be counted in favor of the adoption of such question or proposition; if he shall stamp a cross (X) after the printed word "No" opposite any question or proposition his vote shall be counted against the adoption of the same.

Section 8. That in all particulars not recited in this Ordinance, said election shall be held as provided by law for the holding of municipal elections in said City.

Section 9. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage and adoption of this Ordinance by a vote of two-thirds of all the members of the Board of Trustees of said City, and its approval by the President of said Board of said City, and shall cause the same to be published once a day for at least seven days in The Glendale Evening News, a daily newspaper printed, published and circulated in the City of Glendale, and no other notice of said election need be given. Dorothy Williams Is Honored By Friends

Miss Grace Crampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Crampton of 325 West Burchett street, entertained last night in honor of Miss Dorothy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Williams of 208 South Orange street, a recent college graduate and a very charming addition to the younger social set of this city. The living room was tastily decorated with yellow flowers. The dining room, including table decorations, was a blaze of red blossoms. Music and games provided diversions for the evening, at the close of which a dainty lunch was served.

Guests invited to greet Miss Williams, the guest of honor, included Miss Mildred Mather, Miss Mary Heidelmann and Miss Gertrude Heidelmann, all of Los Angeles, Miss Grace Baley of Long Beach, Miss Bertha Sayre, Miss Harriet Williams, Miss Louise Ayala, Miss Faye Gould and the hostess, Miss Grace Crampton.

Admission Of Foreign Workmen Is Opposed

DENVER, Colo., June 17.—Solution of the unemployment problems of America was sought by the American Federation of Labor in session here.

Several proposals were made by delegates to provide more work for idle men. One which was before the resolutions committee and will undoubtedly receive serious consideration by the entire convention, provides for establishment of a six-hour day and elimination of all overtime.

Strict enforcement of regulations against admission of foreign workmen, especially from Japan and China, was urged by delegates from the Pacific coast.

ORNAMENTAL TREE STOLEN

One of the ornamental dwarf cedars, which grace the front of the Ralph W. Brown studio where Mr. and Mrs. William P. MacMullin reside, was stolen last night, according to a report filed with the police department.

Seen Trace Of Case? It's Mysterious Case, Mr. Dunn's Brief Case

John Dunn of 446 West Colorado is an attorney who finds printing more profitable and is associated with his brother's establishment in Los Angeles.

He handles the payrolls for the establishment and many nights brings home his office work to vise while he lounges in an easy chair.

Such was the case Wednesday night, but he stopped at several different places while touring around town in his new Buick car with Mrs. Dunn after dinner.

That's how the brief case for which he is advertising today became lost. If anyone finds it—full of printing data and payrolls—they are requested to return it at the earliest possible moment.

SUBMIT PLANS FOR BUSINESS SECTION SEWER SYSTEM

Cost Of Improvement To Be Assessed Against Those Receiving Service

been attended by Mr. Olmsted, and a thorough explanation of the plans has been made at these meetings. We learn from those who have circulated the petitions presented herewith that it seems to be the general opinion of property holders and also of business men having their establishments within this district that this system is greatly needed and should be installed without delay. We have not had returned to us all of the petitions that were given out, but feel confident that the desires of a large majority of the property holders within the district and others interested are the board proceed with this improvement without delay. We would therefore recommend the adoption of the plans as submitted by Olmsted & Gillelen and that city attorney be instructed to prepare the legal proceedings for such improvement under the 1911 act."

Verdugo Canyon System

The city manager also submitted the following communication on the Verdugo Canyon sewer system and the trustees instructed the city attorney to prepare a contract with Olmsted & Gillelen for their consideration:

"We have been informed by City Attorney Hartley Shaw that Attorney J. C. Thomson of New York has given his final approval of the legal proceedings for Municipal District No. 3 whereby your board acquired authorization to issue $50,000 of Municipal District No. 3 bonds for the purpose of installing sewer system for this district and in accordance with authorization of your board of May 19 we have instructed City Engineer Hill to proceed with plans and specifications for trunk line in Verdugo Canyon and have secured from Olmsted & Gillelen a proposition for preparing plans and specifications for sewage disposal works.

"Their letter of May 24 embodying their proposition is submitted herewith, from which it will be noted that they propose to prepare plans and specifications for disposal works for the sum of $1000, which is 10 per cent of the amount of this bond issue that is planned to be devoted to the construction of disposal works. This might seem at first a large fee, but we do not think that it is a large one considering the results that are to be obtained.

"We would therefore respectfully recommend that Olmsted & Gillelen's proposition be accepted and that the city attorney be authorized to draw contract in accordance therewith."

Vaudeville Bill At Palace Grand Pleases

Introducing for the first time in Glendale a nationally-known circuit vaudeville show, the Palace Grand last night offered five acts of Marcus Loew entertainment. Arthur Deagon undoubtedly was the stellar attraction in a cabaret act which kept everyone happy. He intends to return to southern California to reside within the coming year and he will bring with him Arthur, Jr., who is graduating from Cornell University's engineering department. Mr. Deagon is a native son, although he has played the world over.

Calvert and Shayne, known as two aces of songland, introduced a new lot of popular pieces; Ronair and Ward presented a delightful skit entitled "Renewing Acquaintances;" Mr. and Mrs. Wiley had something new to Glendale in "Melodies in Crystal," using glasses for playing tinkling tunes; and the Wheeler trio closed the show with a balancing and tumbling turn.

There will be no show tonight, the Intermediate school holding its graduation exercises in the Palace Grand.

Dr. H. Russell Boyer Dodges Dog, Injured

Dr. H. Russell Boyer, while answering a call yesterday at the J. C. Kincy residence, 303 East Elk avenue, fell and sprained his back so severely that he will be confined to his bed in the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital for several days.

It seems that the Kincys have a sign, "Beware of the Dog." The doctor evidently didn't believe in signs for he started up the front steps only to have a huge Airedale pounce at him. In protecting himself and two medical cases, he fell in such a manner that the pain caused him to collapse.

The Pulliam & Kiefer ambulance was called and Dr. Boyer became a patient of the hospital where he has taken many cases.

Foresters Entertain And Hold Initiation

Gleneagle court, Foresters of America, were hosts at an entertainment Wednesday night which was attended by members of Los Angeles courts, the grand chief ranger, grand sub-chief ranger, grand trustee, grand past chief ranger and the district deputy ranger. Chief Ranger Emil Kiefer presided over the initiation of five members following which an entertainment of dances, songs, stories and piano solos were enjoyed. Refreshments were served and all of the three score present declared they had a "great time."

In an attempt to reduce the toll of fatal accidents throughout Seattle, the coroner is erecting signs at places where fatalities have occurred, stating in detail the particular fatality responsible for the sign.

C. H. Henry's Letter Wins His Admiration

Editor The Evening News—Please allow me space in your columns to express my admiration of C. H. Henry's answer to the Glendale Good Government League.

As a taxpayer, a citizen and a voter of the city of Glendale, I indorse the stand he takes, and his true Americanism. He comes out fearlessly and pledges himself to no party or religious organization. He proposes as in the past to serve the city in the best interest to the people and act free to exercise his best judgment which during his many years in the council has proven wise and efficient. His past record should be sufficient credential to re-elect him.

Yours very truly,
NAPOLEON LE BLANC.

Four New Books Of Fiction Are Released

Four new books of fiction were released for general distribution at the public library on Harvard street yesterday, as follows:

"Greatheart," by Ethel M. Dell. A romance, the scene of which is largely laid in Switzerland.

"Captain Macedoine's Daughter," by William McFee. A story of the soul of England cast in a vibrant pictorial setting of seas and sea towns.

"In the Twinkling of an Eye," by Sydney Watson.

LOS FELIZ OPENING MAY BE HALTED BY TRUSTEES

Dwight W. Stephenson Points Out Possible Changes In Proposed Improvement

Dwight W. Stephenson, president of the Board of City Trustees, suggested to the board at its session last night that proceedings under way for the opening of Los Feliz Road be halted until an investigation be made into the possibility of changing the plans so that, as he explained it, a more satisfactory improvement might be obtained.

As a result of President Stephenson's statement to the board, the trustees agreed to meet with him, the city manager and the city attorney at the former Tropico city hall at 5:30 o'clock tonight and personally inspect the ground and view the new lines of the street suggested as well as consider the lines as proposed under the present proceedings.

"The way the matter has just been explained to me and from my personal view of the lines, it is possible that the board has made a mistake in proceeding with the opening of the thoroughfare as outlined," said President Stephenson.

Would Face Residence

"I am informed that if the opening is carried through as planned the street will face a private residence and cause a jog.

"It has been suggested to me—and I have personally gone over the ground—that we can obtain a better street by taking a bit of land from private property and then cutting a slice from the parkings. Of course this will cause the removal of some trees, which is unfortunate.

However, if the proceedings are allowed to continue as at present, I am informed the street will end in front of a private dwelling. Also, if the street is ever opened through from Central to Brand, a portion of the former Tropico city hall building will have to be torn down. That's also something that should be seriously considered.

Proceedings Under Way

"While it is true the proceedings to opening the street are under way, they have not yet reached the stage where they cannot be held up by this board and I urge that we investigate a new plan that has been suggested.

"I am not an engineer, but a plan has been outlined to me and it appears good on the surface, provided the lines have been rightly described. I ask that the present proceedings be held up until we can investigate. I want the members of this board to visit the scene with me, the city manager and the city engineer to accompany us to point out the exact lines."

The matter was further discussed and it was agreed to meet at the former Tropico city hall late this afternoon and go over the ground and determine, if possible, what action is to be taken.

Nations' Association Plan Being Drafted

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—A plan for an association of nations has been drafted at the request of President Harding, it was learned in a reliably informed quarter here today.

The draft, now complete, covers several typewritten pages and is constructed around the idea of codifying international law and setting up a world tribunal after the plan advocated by Harding in his campaign speeches.

This was in answer from administration headquarters today to the letter of Hamilton Holt asking President Harding specifically what he is doing toward creating the association of nations advocated during the presidential campaign. The plan is reported to ignore entirely the Versailles treaty and League of Nations.

President Harding, it is said, ordered drafting of a plan shortly after his election last November. A man well versed in international law, who has the complete confidence of the president, was asked to undertake the task, but his identity has not been made known. The drafting was completed some weeks ago, it is said.

Administration friends explained today that there will be no haste in attempting to put the scheme into effect. Primarily, President Harding is alleged to be waiting until the war's aftermath has been completely cleaned up in Europe. His plan being entirely divorced from the world war, can be most effectively worked out when all powers are free to give calm dispassionate attention to it. The president is said to feel that it is wiser to wait until the auspicous time arrives than to risk an immediate attempt which might fail because of temporary distractions abroad.

180 Additional Street Lights Recommended By City Mgr. Watson

T. W. Watson, city manager, in a communication filed with the board of city trustees last night, recommended that next year's budget provide for 180 additional street lights, about forty of which will be distributed on San Fernando road. His communication follows:

"In regard to street lighting on San Fernando road which was referred to us the 9th instant for investigation and report:

"In considering street lighting for the ensuing fiscal year provision is being made in the budget for about forty additional lights on San Fernando road. The larger number of these will be installed between Colorado street and the north city limits. It is planned, however, to install a few additional lights between Los Feliz road and Colorado street.

"On the general subject of street lighting it might be well to mention here that we will recommend that next year's budget provide for the installation of one hundred and eighty street lights, about forty of which to be installed on San Fernando road as stated before and about ninety to be installed on Glendale avenue, Verdugo road and the Verdugo canyon district, the additional fifty to be distributed over the city generally as they are needed."

David Johnson, Hurt In Accident, Is Out

David Johnson, former local high school graduate and well known among Glendale's younger set, was in town yesterday for the first time in seven weeks. During that time he has been confined at his home in Eagle Rock as the result of being run over by an automobile truck.

None of the injuries sustained were very serious, their extent being a wrenched hip, both legs bruised and his back severely lacerated. He has suffered excruciating pain from them, although he says that the worst is now over. At present he has to walk with the aid of crutches, which he hopes to discard in the near future.

A. J. Van Wie Makes Statement To Voters

Editor The Evening News:—Believing fully in my capabilities to efficiently fulfill the duties of city clerk and urged on by the good wishes of my friends, well wishers and those whom I have personally met during my campaign, I am taking the liberty to address the voters of Glendale through the columns of The Evening News.

Under the provisions of the newly voted municipal charter an election is to be held on June 28 for the purpose of electing a new set of officers to carry on the affairs of Glendale subject to its precepts. Inaugurating this new policy, appears to the mind of the average layman and to the various organizations who have banded together to endorse certain candidates, a feeling that perhaps a change might be for the best. Whether this may prove true or not depends upon the vote cast at the polls on June 28. The rights of every American citizen should be exercised at the polls and no voter of Glendale should overlook this privilege.

In placing my name before the people of Glendale as a candidate to the office of city clerk, I do so with a just feeling that I can fill the office satisfactorily. My eight years as a resident of Glendale and Tropico puts me on the eligible list; my experience as a newspaper man, where I was constantly meeting the public and trying in my way to further their wants and assist in the upbuilding of a bigger and better Glendale, gives me an understanding as to the ways of the public found in but few walks of life; my two years on the police desk, my year and a half in the Public Works department at the city hall gives me a general insight into the duties of the office to which I aspire.

A large share of the future of Glendale can be ascribed to the manner in which the office of city clerk is conducted. It is there that the future must look for the records of the present. Glendale's history, its doings and dealings must be on the log book in the city clerk's office and open for inspection or questions at all times. Choose well then for the future.

With two boys, young yet, but growing, I am emphatically in favor of maintaining at all times school facilities that go to make them better able to cope with the problems of the business world. I am heartily in favor of establishing and conducting, along right lines, forms of amusement and recreation that will keep my boys and your boys at home. I am for the enactment of laws that stand for better manhood, yet I am unalterably against laws that would conflict with the constitution of the United States, a constitution that our forefathers fought for; that our fathers upheld and our boys doggedly maintained; the rights of freedom.

If the voters of Glendale see fit to elect me to the office of city clerk on June 28 I promise to fulfill the duties in a way that will not bring discredit to the city of Glendale, the people who placed me there, or to myself.

Permission Is Given For Cutting Of Trees

The board of city trustees last night acted favorably on the following recommendations for removal of trees made by T. W. Watson, city manager:

"In regard to requests for permission to remove trees, we would recommend that the following be granted:

"The Stanadard Oil company to remove seven trees, namely, the first, third, fifth, seventh, ninth, eleventh and thirteenth on the east side of San Fernando road just north of its intersection with Colorado street. These are in front of the Standard Oil company's filling station.

"Frank Johnson of 375 Salem street to remove two trees in alley in rear of 1260 Walnut street. These trees interfere with entrance to garage now being constructed."

Sam Seelig Company To Open On June 25

The Sam Seelig company opens its mammoth public market June 25 at 133 North Brand boulevard, according to the announcement of G. E. Alexander, their local manager. The market will handle meats, delicacies, fruits, vegetables, bakery goods and groceries at the prices afforded the Los Angeles customers of the Sam Seelig stores, it is stated. A soda fountain and lunch counter is now being installed in the 50 by 120 store room, which was especially constructed for this public market which will be known as store No. 49.

Mr. Alexander, who has been a resident of Glendale for several years, will be assisted by Mr. Ratcliffe in the management of this huge institution. The Seelig company is contemplating the establishment of a similar store in southern Glendale.

Glendale Gateway Club In Session Last Night

The Glendale Gateway club held its regular weekly meeting at the branch library building last night.

In the absence of Stuart Street, president, the chair was occupied by J. B. Treadwell.

Owing to a large number of members attending the high school commencement exercises, there were not as many present as at former meetings.

The Glendale avenue committee and the Los Feliz road committee reported on the progress being made. The chairmen of other committees will report at the next meeting, on Thursday night, at the same time and place.

country during the past few years is primarily caused by non-education and illiteracy, he said, was self-evident.

Upon quoting statistics on education in the United States he stated that there are twelve million people in the Union who cannot read or write, this country being the ninth in the nations of the world in education. He went on to say that the trouble does not lie in any single section, but that the entire country should make efforts to assimilate the growing number of illiterates. In New York City he claimed that there were more foreign-written newspapers printed every day than those published in the native tongue, and that drastic action should be taken to compel the foreign-born citizens of the country to learn to read and write the native language.

Insure Education

In dwelling on the "education bill," which is now being proposed in the legislature at Washington, Mr. Weidner stated that the passage of this bill would insure education for everybody and that it would "bring about the assimilation of the masses." In quoting the late Secretary, Franklin K. Lane, he said that "Illiteracy is one of the main economic faults of the United States today," which should emphasize the necessity for the passing of the "education bill."

One other point upon which the speaker laid particular stress was the necessity of equality prevailing in the United States, saying that "there is no room here for classes." In flaying the radicals, Bolshevists, I. W. W.'s, etc., he told of the dangers of mob rule, maintaining that education is the only method which will entirely overcome this deplorable condition. In speaking on equality he also condemned the country's profiteers, with the statement that they, as much as any other faction, are causing the state of unrest throughout the nation.

In closing, Mr. Weidner told of the sacrifices for democracy that have been made during the history of the United States, citing instances of bravery and sacrifice "from Valley Forge to the Argonne." In speaking of the recent war he said that America had saved democracy for the world and that it was now necessary to maintain the precedent that had been set by our army. Finally he stated that the people of the United States have and should exercise their right of franchise to "make this country the land of one God, of one flag and of one language.

Class Memorial

Following Mr. Weidner's address Miss Constance Braasch, who is a member of the graduating class and is also president of the Glendale Junior Music club, rendered two excellent piano solos, "Altvienne" by Godowsky and "Etude" by Chopin. Wilbur Johns, the president of the class, then gave a short talk in which he presented the class memorial to the high school. This memorial, which was a check to go to the Mary M. Donicky scholarship fund, was gratefully accepted by Mr. Moyse, after which he expressed the appreciation of the school for the gift and told of the history of the fund, which was started in the memory of the late Miss Donicky.

Joe Rhodes, the talented young singer of the class, then entertained the audience with "Armorer's Song" and "Dream Tryst." He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Constance Domsler.

Presents Class

In the presentation of the graduating class Mr. Moyse first thanked Mr. Howe, manager of the Glendale Theatre, for his generosity in allowing the school to hold the exercises in his theatre. This was heartily emphasized by the spirited volume of applause from the audience. Mr. Moyse commended the splendid manhood and womanhood of the class in presenting it to Dr. Harry V. Brown, president of the board of trustees.

After a short talk on "The Value of a High School Diploma," in which he expressed his pleasure at having the privilege of presenting the diplomas, Dr. Brown gave the documents to the graduates as they walked across the stage.

Frank Lanterman concluded the program by playing "Festal March," as the class marched out of the auditorium.

TRUSTEE ROBINSON ASKS REPAIRS ON CITY'S ENGINE

Files Communication Giving Details And Urges Effort Be Made To Save It

Urging that the city of Glendale continue its efforts to put fire engine No. 2 into better working condition, Spencer Robinson, city trustee, at the meeting of the board of city trustees last night filed a communication with the board with the request that it be spread in full on the minutes.

Trustee Henry, following the reading of the communication, declared that he was against the spending of any more money on "experimenting."

"I am ready to consider that the engine is junk," he declared.

Dwight W. Stephenson, president of the board, declared that he had acted on the reports submitted by the city manager, the fire chief and other information and had the understanding that the engine was not to be kept out of commission, but was to be used in an emergency and, later, converted into a ladder truck.

City Manager Watson confirmed the statement that it was the plan to use the engine as an emergency apparatus and, finally, make it into a ladder machine.

On motion of Trustee Bartlett, seconded by Trustee Lapham, the communication from Trustee Robinson was ordered spread on the minutes, Trustees Henry and Stephenson voting against it, the latter explaining his vote by saying he was not in favor of lengthening the minutes with so long a communication when, as he stated, the subject could be covered in a small space.

Here Is Communication

The communication from Trustee Robinson follows in full:

"In a report submitted June 9 by City Manager T. W. Watson, relative to fire engine No. 2, and published in a Glendale newspaper, he stated that after Roy Hinchcliff had repaired the machine it was returned to Fire Chief Lankford; that the fire chief found it necessary to make minor repairs, these being taken care of at the station, and that the chief declared the engine was 'in no condition to be placed in service,' saying, 'the chain drags on the timing gear case' and that 'the drive shaft was sprung out of line and it is very uncertain as to how long the machine will run in this condition.' The fire chief also reported, the city manager announced, that 'the machine as returned to him was in no condition to be run, and requested to be advised as to what should be done in regard to it.'

Held for Emergency

"In his report of June 9 the city manager states that he instructed the fire chief to keep the engine at station No. 1 until he 'received further orders' and use it only in an emergency.

"I wish it to appear on the minutes of this board that I am responsible for having the machine repaired and I desire to say that it is in repair and can be run all day and all night, if necessary, without breaking down. Roy Hinchcliff stands back of the repairs and guarantees them. The cost of fixing the machine was $250. But, in taking down the engine Mr. Hinchcliff found a cylinder head burnt out. I told him to fix it. I so reported to the city manager. That minor repair and several other things made the cost $8.50 more, bringing the total bill of repairs up to $258.50.

"Mr. Hinchcliff tried in every way to get a fan belt that would keep the fan going, but after consulting Fire Chief Langford and City Manager Watson it was decided to put on a chain drive. I desire to state that the engine does not heat, and in six round trips to La Canada it worked perfectly and will repeat the test today or tomorrow. So, why 'junk' the machine?

Yet Pump Still Pumps

"In pumping water a few days ago the pump lost a valve and the crank shaft was sprung or something went, wrong, yet the pump still pumps even with one valve gone. Any pump may go wrong. Why not fix the pump? Why 'junk' it? Big corporations keep their equipment in repair. Why cannot the city of Glendale do the same with its fire engine?

"It is true the chain did drag on the timing gear case. Mr. Hinchcliff said he could fix it in fifteen minutes. The fire department thought it could, and did.

"It will cost about $300 or $400 to overhaul the pump. If this is done we will have a fire-fighting machine at a cost of about $600 or $700, and the new one costs the people $12,500.

"This machine, in my opinion, cannot only be placed in good working order at a nominal cost, for our present needs, but, with the aid of our fire department and city manager, this machine can be kept in good working order, and later when the city needs, this machine can be used at a substation in the residential section, which im my opinion, this city will need before many years. In other words the employees of the city should make every effort to keep our equipment up, rather than continually asking the people to vote bonds. Therefore, I am in favor of making the additional repairs and I ask that these remarks be spread on the minutes in full.

"SPENCER ROBINSON."

Lord Mayor Of Cork Is Safely Overseas

By CARL VICTOR LITTLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 17.—Donal O'Callaghan, Britain's phantom rebel, arrived overseas today.

O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who fled the United tSates after he had been refused political asylum here, made the trip without a passport and via the "underground route" of the Irish.

The announcement of the safe arrival of the leader of the Irish republican movement was made exclusively to the United Press at the headquarters of the Irish mission here.

O'Callaghan arrived in the United States several months ago as a stowaway. The order that he had to leave the country was issued after a bitter fight by Irish sympathizers to allow him to stay.

They said he should be allowed to stay here because he was a political enemy of Great Britain and subject to sentence of death if caught.

During his stay here the 29-year-old Irish rebel leader, stumped the country for the American association for the recognition of the Irish republic.

Whether O'Callaghan arrived in Ireland or on the continent was not divulged. His exact movements are guarded with the utmost secrecy because of the value placed on him by Irish republicans as a leader.

Close advisors today said O'Callaghan left the United States with the realization that he was a doomed man. He left over the protests of many close friends, who pointed out he could hide in the United States for months.

"I am needed over there," his friends quoted him as saying. "I am not content to do the talking in the United States and let others do the fighting back home."

THE DIFFERENCE

"Have a cigar?"
"No; don't smoke now."
"Sworn off?"
"Nope; stopped entirely."

True, But Not News Now

Los Angeles is the center of the most thriving building boom anywhere in the United States, according to the Property Owners' association. Well, did they just wake up to the fact? In March of this year The Glendale Evening News called attention to the prosperity of this section in no unmistakable terms. Even President Harding recognized the fact—and now Los Angeles is waking up to the situation.

Duty and Dignity Meet

When a United States marine brought a prisoner into Judge Walton J. Wood's court in Los Angeles yesterday he didn't doff his hat. 'Tis regulation not to do such a thing while wearing sidearms and Private Alden W. Larsen had a .45 on his hip. It would have been pleasing to have seen the tilt between Duty and and Dignity.

Major E. E. Kirk Accused

Once again the National Guard finds the odium of a front page story in the Los Angeles newspaper. This time it is Major E. E. Kirk, ranking officer of Southern California, who appears to have refused rifles for a firing squad which was to attend a veterans' funeral. As a result Adjutant General Boree has been appealed to for the equipment.

Governor's Anniversary

The governor's mansion today is at their old home in Los Angeles, 344 Oxnard street, Los Angeles, where the governor's sister, Mrs. John K. Wilson, resides. It is the thirtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Stephens.

Prominent Merchant Missing

Police today are searching for Isadore Jacobs, aged 30, prominent produce merchant of Brooklyn, N. Y., who disappeared a few hours after arriving at Long Beach Wednesday night with his bride of a few weeks.

Mrs. Jacobs told the police her husband had $2000 in currency in his pocket when he left her at a hotel to go to a theatre Wednesday evening.

Battleships Sunk—On Paper

Theoretically the battleships New Mexico and Mississippi are in Davy Jones' locker and the Idaho and Texas in drydock for repairs today, having been decisively beaten by an enemy force of thirty-five destroyers, four scout cruisers and twelve seaplanes in an all-day sham battle off San Pedro yesterday.

No official announcement was made by naval authorities, but it is reported the smaller vessels pumped several torpedoes into the sides of the giant battleships.

The battle was resumed today.

Treaty With Germany Is Being Considered

By A. L. BRADFORD

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—With congress moving slowly toward a declaratory state of peace, Secretary Hughes today was understood to be studying the question of a treaty with Germany.

Hughes is said to be considering the problem of a treaty with Germany on the basis that one of the following two courses must be taken after congress accomplishes a state of peace:

First—The United States must accept the treaty of Versailles, with the covenant of the league of nations stricken out and the modifications and reservations necessary to meet objections of the administration to the treaty as it stands, or Second—This government must negotiate a separate peace treaty with Germany.

Secretary Hughes is known to favor the first course and he is believed now to be studying the reservations and modifications which he thinks necessary to allow American acceptance of the Versailles treaty.

After he has decided on how it shall be edited to meet American approval, the secretary is expected to send the Versailles pact with these changes to President Harding with the recommendation that the treaty be resubmitted to the senate for ratification.

The question of treaties with Austria and Hungary as the countries which made up the old Austro-Hungarian empire, with which the United States declared a state of war, is also being considered by Hughes.

OF COURSE NOT

A resident of the rural districts, Louis by name, brought a load of hogs to the local stockyards and they were sold by Ben, another native of the fatherland. Later in the day Louis was digesting the account of the sale when Ben approached and inquired:

"Louie, did your hogs weigh as much as you thought they would?"

Louie replied: "No, they didn't; but I didn't think they would."

Federation Gathering Talks Labor Problems

DENVER, Colo., June 17.—The American Federation of Labor today considered—labor.

Attempts to infuse consideration of outside topics were made by some delegates, but met with little success. The Irish question, prohibition and other subjects brought up were to be laid over for consideration toward the close of the annual convention.

Unemployment, wage cuts and labor organization had the right of way in today's discussions.

The attitude of the federation toward the injection of foreign topics was shown in the quick refusal to consider a resolution condemning the Ku Klux Klan, presented by a delegation of negroes, the resolution asked that federal and state governments be urged to take action against the Klan, which was called an advocate of mob violence.

Some expression of sympathy for Ireland probably will be made before the end of the convention.

Leaders of the movement to force a resolution through waited eagerly for the promised cablegram from Eamonn de Valera, which they believed would help the cause.

Opponents of a proposal to boycott all goods made in Great Britain as punishment for their course in Ireland declared they had collected enough votes to defeat the move.

A resolution commending Secretary Denby for his action on Admiral Sims' speech in London also has been sidetracked for the time being. The resolution calls for the dismissal of Sims if he made the anti-Sinn Fein speech attributed to him.

Chance of endorsement and affiliation with the International Trades Union council was believed squelched in a letter sent the International's headquarters in Holland.

The letter bitterly arraigned the International's advocacy of general strikes, force and socialization. President Samuel Gompers signed the letter, which also declared that the International's appeal for workers to cease making munitions of war, was designed to aid soviet Russia and would have "a disastrous effect on the democracies of the world" if it had been heeded.
